THE SEMI-WEEKLY ARGUS.
SATURDAY ..... NOVEMBER 12, 1881

TOWN TALK.

—The President has designated Thursday, the 24th inst., as the day of national thanksgiving and prayer.

—Romanoff's Feed depot, at the Encinal station of the C. P. road, is complete, and will be occupied at once.

—Madam Lotter is bestowing further external attractions on her house in Santa Clara avenue by means of new paint.

—Dave Morris, design writer, will leave for his ship with Harvey's Circus, on Saint Clara avenue, next Monday, where all orders for his sign may be left.

—The Danish society "Nordens" making active preparations for a grand ball and fete to be given in San Francisco in the 20th. The Alameda society will participate.

—Invitations to the first annual ball of the Alameda Fire Department are out. As has been previously stated, it will take place on Wednesday evening, the 16th, at Hansen Hall.

—We have received a communication concerning the recent burglaries, and on account of some caustic criticisms on the subject which we must decline to publish, it is entirely too personal to be admissible to our columns.

—George Clement, who raided the Curtis Dome Smelting Works, at Clarita, during a few weeks since, pleaded guilty to burglary in the second degree, in Department No. 2, on last Monday, and was sentenced to the State Prison for five years.

—The pupils of the High School being in charge the entertainment to be given by the class of '82 on the 18th inst., are rehearsing diligently in preparation for that event. The proceeds will be used next commencement day to enable the class to give an entertainment a little ahead of those generally given on such occasions.

—C. H. Rho, at the West End Plumbery, has sold the stock of goods and the shop fixtures of the late President Garfield, in Cleveland. It is accompanied by the official certificate of the committee which had the ceremonies in charge, which establishes its genuineness. It consists of a piece of the broadcloth covering of the bier, and a branch of the evergreen decoration.

—Yesterday morning at H. W. Bunn was turning his hose and buggy stand in front of his place of business on Santa Clara avenue, a runaway accident in the buggy slipped and broke loose, and the horse ran down Santa Clara avenue, completely overturn the vehicle, and tear out its company, injuring Mr. Bunn about the hip and sides, though not to a serious manner. The buggy was a used, the horse breaking loose from it and disappearing.

—Our municipal Jupiter Pluvius, mounted on his aqueous throne, is again pressing his triumphal march along the broad and arid highways of our silent and unfinished suburb. Bespeaking comfort by dispelling water, he ridicules with our grass and browning dignity along his ways of travel, the while the happy parks proclaim their joy in many a boisterous shout, and stable doors and mules fair their benefactors scarcely smile on his devoted head—and he deserves it, too, in addition to his $2 50 a day.

—The C. P. railroad company have followed the example of the narrow gauge folks by issuing commutation tickets between Alameda and Oakland, making the price the same as fixed by the Narrow-gauge, namely five dollars for 25 trips. These tickets, however, are not transferable, and are issued only to those persons who buy them. We hope this will have the effect of doing away with the bickering between passengers and conductors that has characterized the old and always unsatisfactory method.

—Mr. Fred. Fisher, recently from New York city, has taken a home at McPherson street, belonging to Mr. J. C. Jamieson, and occupied it with his family. Mr. Fischer is an artist by profession, and has studio with Mr. Fred. Schafer (who is building a house on Railroad avenue and Boston street) on Santa Clara street, San Francisco. While on his way to Alameda, one day this week, Mr. Fischer had the ill luck to dislocate his arm by falling on the street railroad track in his way to the boat. The injury is not serious, however.

—Mathias is now sure our invigorating exhumation on being shown the cerebral without though our complete accomplishment which Dr. Lacette, the Webster street bridge tender, and his assistant, Johnny Pleasant, have provided for him. Mathias is the name of the iron dome. A cylindrical shaft, surmounted by a cupola of the brick and a 25-foot basin the other. Access to the bed is only to be had over the foot-board, but contriving is easy and tight, and indicates that the company intend to make a permanent stay, and we guess they will, for they attend strictly to their business.

—An extensive configuration took place at the corner of Franklin and Fred streets, Oakland, last Tuesday evening, involving a loss of some $10,000, consisting principally by Fisher & Taylor, Bell and Anderson, and Holland & Son, all men. Another fire occurred at about the same time at the corner of First and Lincoln streets, which consumed the lay Mrs and 330 tons of hay belonging to E. T. Sugsbeen. Its loss was $3,000. The business on the above property was about $12,000, distributed among various Fireman companies. It is the opinion of Chief Engineer Hill and many others that Tom Bunn was incendiary, and Fisher & Taylor have offered a reward of $100 for the arrest and conviction of those who fired the act.

—Mr. Charles W. Smith has leased the store in Park Row formerly occupied by Leon Gandia, and about the middle of next week will open it as a first-class restaurant and oyster saloon. The will employ a waiter experience of Alameda have long and seriously felt. Mr. Smith holds no second class as a caterer, having until recently occupied the position of chief de cuisine at the Palace Hotel, and formerly maintained the same relation to both the old and new Palmer Houses, of Chicago. Mr. Smith's new will be assisted with him in his new enterprise, and we have no hesitancy in predicting that the finest meal, of the gastronomic order, the Encinal, can procure at Smith's establishment will be the best delicacy there.

—At the session of the Board of Trustees last Tuesday evening, the Judicial Committee, consisting of Messrs. Henry and Lonsdale, presented the following report, which was adopted:

Your Judicial Committee, to whom was referred the petition of F. Rodiner for a license to sell liquors, beg leave to report as follows: Petitioner is a dealer in our chamber, equal to at least five times the income imposed on resident dealers in the Town of Alameda, respectfully report that they find on page 606 of Cushing's Manual for 1877, 78 a decision by Justice Cushing, that "an ordinance of a city, passed under a general power conferred by a charter, adopted under a license for selling goods and the same rate of license for selling such goods which are within the corporate limits or in the suburbs of the town, is unjust, unequal, partial, oppressive and in restraint of trade." Therefore petitioner is of the opinion that the petitioners cannot be granted.

—As we go to press the Friday evening it is impossible to write of the Odd Fellows' concert given last night in celebration at this writing, however, point out that it will be the greatest success that has ever occurred in this town. Those directing the affair are very energetic, and have imparted their spirit of zeal to all participating. The programme is out, and is a genuine curiosity, show the great variety and talent on the part of the "boys" of, who is understood to be Mr. H. F. Clark, acting in the capacity of editor of its local, giving a sketch of those participating, with a brief mention of individual points, which, in fact, have greatly lend the ingenuity of the writer to have indulged. In our next issue we will endeavor to write of the performances.

—The entertainment announced by the Chosen Friends to take place last Wednesday evening but the effort to fill Hedge's Hall, it is stated, caused some who could not get in had to go home without witnessing the performance. The programme was satisfactorily carried out, excepting the address by the Grand Chief Committee, who was ill and unable to attend. C. C. Bird, of Alameda Lodge No. 27, opened the proceedings in a speech, and the balance of the evening was with every one in good humor at any rate. Prof. Cadena's solo on the piano, and the duet by Master and Miss Anna Ayer, Mr. Chortray and Mrs. Lefever, were well received. The solo by Mr. Thompson, Miss Deblois and Mrs. Maynard were enthusiastically encored. Miss Magelin's rendition was one of the most enjoyable features of the evening. This young lady demonstrated that she possesses great ability as an elocutionist—her efforts being second to none we have ever heard in this town. She was most vigorously encored, and responded by reading a humorous selection, that caused great merriment. A good tableau closed the entertainment, after which the floor was cleared and dancing commenced, which was kept up until a late hour.

United States vs. Crooks et al.

The suit which was begun in the Third District Court on March 4th, 1876, by the United States against Mr. Crooks and others, to condemn certain lands required for the construction of a tidal basin in San Antonio Creek, and for a tidal canal between the head of the creek and San Leandro Bay, came to trial in Department Three of the Superior Court last Thursday. Among the original defendants were Gimeno and Vallejo, H. W. Carpentier, A. A. Cohen, the Oakland Water Front Company, Hays & Copeland and others. The government was represented by U. S. District Attorney Philip Teare and by U. S. District Attorney Walter Van Dyke, while A. A. Cohen, Mr. Hall, Mr. Carpentier, Mr. Hays and A. A. Freeman appeared for their respective and other defendants.

—Col. Geo. H. Mendell, U. S. Engineer, was the first witness called. His testimony was mainly confining upon the probable effect the proposed canal would have upon the adjacent property. He thought the land would be benefitted. Ample care would be taken to keep the banks of the canal from washing, and bridges would be thrown across wherever need on a thoroughfare or street was encountered. He cited five acres, was a so-defendant, and thought the canal would be a benefit. The mean showing the land to be condemned, the costs of the proceeding and, also, the cost of filing to the survey made were offered in evidence.

—Col. Theodore A. Hodge, who was connected with transactions in Oakland real estate in 1852, was the next witness. He thought that Gimeno's land was worth $1,250 per acre in 1876, and now worth from $1,000 to $1,500 per acre. A small piece of land owned by A. Ford was worth $2,000 per acre. Messrs. Hamilton, Farmer and Wm. Kennedy were also examined as witnesses, and their testimony was similar to that of Col. Mendell. The further hearing of the case was then continued until November 21, the defendants of Carpentier, the Water Front Company and others appearing as defendants having been entered.

Personal and Society News.

—Miss Annie E. Ritter, sister of Mrs. G. H. Mendell, returned last Thursday from a summer's residence in Napa county.

—On Sunday evening last Mr. Eugene A. Cline, a young man well and favorably known among the narrow-gauge railroad men, was married in marriage to Miss Bell H. Kelley, oldest daughter of David H. Kelley, Esq., at the latter's residence, on Broadway, in this town. Rev. O. W. Briggs officiated, the interesting ceremony being performed in the presence of the relatives of the bride only. Monterey was selected for young the honeymoon, for which place the happy couple departed on Sunday morning.

Too Much Kicking.

Mr. Alex. Sharp, an employee of the C. P. road, was the other night diligently compelling a car truck along the line from Oak to Park street, by means of crowbar and sturdy kicks applied to the axle. As he neared the top of the grade at Park street, a large black dog made a rush towards him, which caused him to jump for his life from the truck to the gutter, which he finally compelled to cross. When, however, he attempted to mount the car, the dog was still on hand and not the worse for wear, and not till after a walk of half a mile in the direction of Oakland did the luckless Sharp dare to resume his interrupted work, and also the fact that the grade inclines from Park street to Fernside. Mr. Sharp's experience and exposure have by his acquaintances been transposed—he is now known as Sharp Kick.

The Social and Literary Society of Alameda.

The first question that is invariably asked in reference to this society by those who are admitted to become members is "What will be required of me individually?" The answer to this leading question, in my opinion, ought to be that each member should endeavor to find how much good sense, talent and worth individually member has in fund. This gives him an opportunity to exercise them without fear of being, or feeling, ridiculous. Then acting on such a basis, the individual members of society have a cornucopia of good things. If we only by our talent or good sense, or, perhaps, lo! our will pour in delightful abundance of great humor, good sense and laughable nonsense. These will sometimes crop out of persons from whom it is or nothing is expected. This in turn creates our surprise, and, behold! the "ball is opened," the social part of the society is organized. Then must be a spirit of good will and everybody mind their own business.

As for the literary part, you will find in all conversation based upon talent, discount for want of an opportunity for expression. To make my literary exercise pleasant, allow me to mention humorous as well as talented performers. This time of the operation must come the ladies in the whole be belongs, and where be may make experiment for himself and yourself, doing his part in the proper place. If any one has a talent in any direction he should not hesitate to make it known by giving a sample. The same will be given an opportunity by presenting themselves to the committee, who will be pleased to accompany the exercise. For the present some good friends to the cause have opened their private parlors for our accommodation. Also some of our most talented citizens have expressed our sphere, a willingness to assist, but a freely tendered. The idea by Mr. Thompson, Miss Deblois and Mrs. Maynard were enthusiastically encored. Miss Magelin's recitation was one of the most enjoyable features of the evening. This young lady demonstrated that she possesses great ability as an elocutionist—her efforts being second to none we have ever heard in this town. She was most vigorously encored, and responded by reading a humorous selection, that caused great merriment. A good tableau closed the entertainment, after which the floor was cleared and dancing commenced, which was kept up until a late hour.

Matters of Local Interest.

—A. Sutro has purchased a controlling interest in the Cliff House, and designs the erection of a mammoth sea-side hotel, the turnouts and beautifying of the sand dunes, and the erection of sheltered bathhouses.

—Charles Cadman, a painter, while working on a scaffolding near the roof of a two-story house near the corner of Tenth and Adeline streets, Oakland, slipped and fell to the ground last Tuesday, breaking his neck. He was about 30 years of age.

—Oakland has four Congregational churches, one of which has been organized but a few months. The first church has 228 members, the second has the largest Congregational church in the state. Two hundred and twenty-four new members have been received into fellowship during the year. In the four Sunday schools in connection with this church there are 1,120 members.

—Prof. J. G. Lemmon has just received from Sir Joseph Hooker, President of the Royal Society of England, a large box, 12 cases, of plants from all parts of the world. The Professor and his wife have just returned from their second trip upon Arcana. They are laden with rich spoils of rare and old plants, and will spend the winter at their quarters in Blake House. On Thursday afternoon and evening the latch string hangs out to friends.—Oakland Tribune.

—Executive clemency has been exercised in the case of Jesse Hayes, who was tried and convicted of grand larceny in Department Two of the Superior Court in this county, in October, 1880. O'Brien, on his trial, swore that he was 16, but it has since been ascertained that he was a hardened criminal of 18. He at one consented in assaulting a young lady and a lady named Mrs. Hays, on Long Wharf, and sentenced to the State Prison for four years. He was proved a San Francisco boodler of the most hardened type, and at the present time a charge hangs over him, and will probably be pressed, which is absolutely so beastly that it is unmentionable. Governor Perkins has reported to have pardoned O'Brien "in consideration of his youth, and because a worthy citizen of Vallejo agreed to take the boy, apprentice him to his trade (tailoring), and do his best to bring him up to a useful manhood."—Oakland Tribune.
