TULARE COUNTY .- The Visalia Delta of Sepember 2d has these items:

On Tuesday evening of last week a shooting affray occurred, in which W. O. Cummings and W. D. Chriswell were the participants, resulting in the killing of Cummings by Chriswell. The affair, as we bave heard it, grew out of a game anar, as we have neard it, grew out of a game of cards, whereupon Cummings went and armed bimself and made threats in reference to Chriswell. Chriswell being informed of these threats, then armed himself with a shot-gun, and immediately upon seeing each other they commenced shooting, Cummings firing the first shot, the ball just grazing the ear of T. J. Shackleford, our County Clerk, and the third or fourth one from Cummings' pistol being fired straight down the sidewalk, took effect in the thigh of our townsman, "Babe" Williams, who was stand-ing on the sidewalk at a distance of nearly two blocks away, inflicting a severe flesh wound. Cummings then undertook to cross the street, firing at Chriswell as he went, when Chriswell are the second time, killing him almost instantly. On Wednesday, the day following, Chriswell had an examination before Justice Chriswell had an examination before Justice hearer and was acquitted, the facts in the Shearer and was acquitted, the facts in the premises making it appear justifiable homicide. On Monday, the 24th ult., John T. Colins shot and killed Dick Mead, at Porterville, on Tule river. The particulars we have not learned, but are informed that it was done in self defense. We are inclined to the opinion that, had the officers done their whole duty, the affray in town paper would have occurred.

never would have occurred. FEELING IN EL DORADO COUNTY .-- A COTTES ondent of the Union writes as follows from Placerville, September 7th:

Things political look very encouraging. We are gaining every day; gathering not only men who went to Haight and Fay last year, but original Democrats. I know it from my knowledge of the men themselves, as well as by what is men mentioned in Sunday morning's Enterprise as having been arrested in this city by officers. Downey and Lackey for horse stealing, were day before yesterday sent to Reno (where the stealing was done) for examination.

A BLACKBIRD that was caught and caged at Leyden (Mass.), lately, and afterward set at liberty, refuses now to leave the premises, and at night roosts with the chickens,

LETTER FROM NEW YORK.

New York, August 24, 1868. Town and Country.

The first tokens of Summer's decline are upon and around us. The perceptible lengthening of our Summer nights now growing musical with the chirp of crickets and the eternal controversy of the Katydids-the swallows twittering on the telegraph wires, discussing whether they shall join the army of Southern carpet-baggers or not-the floating gossamers which fill the air with their silken nets, the spiders weaving "their thin shrouds day by day," the golden disc of the sunflower peering above garden walls and domineering where erst the vase and her companions held their gay court, and, pleasantest token of all, the morning-glory with his cup of dew, crowning the heavy verdure of the wall these are the natural signs of Summer's decline. And for the evidences in the social and ousiness world; the ripple of returning trade and tradesmen in our business places, and the nightly revels at the watering places, indicating the turn of the tide and the approaching end of the fashionable season in the country. Mer-chants who have remained in town trimming their sails for the first breath of the fall trade, say they struck faint flutterings of the breeze last week, and Saturday's commercial reviews show a good report. There was more doing in dry goods and groceries, and the import trade was quite active. There was a moderate business done in East India goods, with promises of decided activity this Fall. The export operations in flour and grain last week were quite oderate, and lower values were made for all ands of breadstuffs under a diminished inquiry oth for home use and shipment. The New York Times gives the expected yield of California this year at "twelve millions of bushels and under," and refers to the great difficulty in conducting the grain trade in your State, both from lack of hands to harvest it and

The Cattle Disease and Public Health. But though the Summer heats are abating, and the returning tide of watering-place visitors shows that the air of the city may be trusted, our sanitary records declare no improvement in the condition of the metropolis: on the contrary, last week gave an increase of eighty-eight deaths over the week before. And this is not the worst of it. The President of the Board of Realth attributes the increase to the use of the flesh of diseased cattle, which i use of the flesh of diseased cattle, which in spite of all the efforts of the Board to prevent it has found its way to our butcher stalls and to our tables. We were just flattering ourselves that the danger was all over with the interdicted importation of diseased cattle, and their disappearance from our yards and abattoirs, but it seems that the claudestine operations of batchers and december the claudestine of the control of the control of the claudestine of the control of the claudestine of the control of the claudestine of the claudestine of the control of the claudestine of the control of the claudestine of t operations of butchers and drovers have suc-ceeded in defeating the amiable intentions of our Health Board and so it must ever be in contests between the representatives of the people and the representatives of moneyed rascality in this great ill-governed city. The cattle market here has been for several years in the hands of a combination comparation in the several years i a combination composed principally of rich Jews. They have enjoyed almost a complete monopoly of the trade, and have been able to control the price of beef and prevent any considerable decline by buying up stock all over the country. They are also able to baffle, if not defeat, the wise converts of the if not defeat, the wise counsels of the Board of Health and break down their sanitary regulations. As the Hebrews do not partake of flesh meat until it has been inspected nd branded by their own officials, they are not and oranded by their own officials, they are not likely to suffer from diseased beef being brought to market. On Saturday, four out of five diseased cattle which had been separated from the droves at the stock-yards by the health officers were found to have been smuggled into the city's morning supplies, and were afterwards traced to the stalls where they were being served out in "juicy steaks" and "tender joints' to customers. I do not hear that the parties to this outrage were arrested or interparties to this outrage were arrested or interered with in any manner by the authoritie olden times they would have been thrust into cases burnt under their noses

City Milk and Croton Water. Hearing of these abominations, perhaps some

f your readers are ready to prescribe as a remedy against the ills our flesh is heir to, that we should "eat no meat while the world standeth." They would have us become vegetarians, or adopt a milk and water diet. But did they ever hear of the "stump-tail fever" and they ever hear of the "stump-tail fever" an the "swill milk" exposures among our dairy men? And do they innocently suppose that the publicity that was given to the outrages committed caused them to to be suppressed? Let them be undeceived, then, and know that New York still protects her Irish dairymen and heir swill milk. Thousands of gallons ar daily sold in this market. The city consumes daily over 25,000,000 of gallons of milk, over one-half of which comes down the Hudson River and Harlem and New Haven Railroad from the upper countries of this city. from the upper counties of this State and her adjoining northern sisters. About ten millions comes across the North and East rivers. But all over the upper portion of Manhattan Island are little private dairies, and it is a curious fact that these have the preference among our best citizens over the nulk carts. The secrets of citizens over the milk carts. The secrets of some of these dairies are kept as close as the operations of the illicit whisky stills, on which, doubtless, many of the former are dependent for their feed; and still the milk of these dairies is worth a penny more on the quart than the out-of-town supply. It must be that our citizens prefer whisky in their milk to water, and are willing to "chance it" on the "stump tail fever" business. It was only yesterday tail fever" business. It was only yesterday morning that two milkmen were arrested for lacteal adulteration. A police officer, turning the corner of Chambers and West streets, at that hour when early birds are proverbially on the alert for worms, popped suddenly upon two jolly young watermen doing business in the milky way, but just then engaged in filling up their cans from a Croton hydrant on the curb. The officer, not being a milk and water man, took them both into custedy.

I don't know that we should complain as we I don't know that we should complain as we do of milk in our Croton water, or vice versa

if we were tolerably sure of the quality of the aqueous fluid in these days. But a new horror has developed itself in the very water we drink. It contains animalculæ visible to the naked eye—minute creatures which imitate the darting motions of fish, and may be tiny speci-mens of the finny tribes for aught we know. nens of the finny tribes for aught we know. Croton water, as you are probably aware, is becoming a scarce commodity in this city. The supply falls considerably short of the demand. In the lower part of the city during the hor weather of last month, citizens doing business in upper stories, or in the vicinity of restau-rants and hotels, were sometimes totally with-out water. If it were not for the unceasing igitance of the Croton Board in checking the unnecessary use of water, it might go hard with the inhabitants of the densely populated dis-tricts of the city. The authorities are devising tricts of the city. The authorities are devising measures to increase the supply. The Legislature having authorized a new reservoir, the Croton Department have taken up and are building a dam of heavy masonry across a deep gorge in the hills, in Kent township, Putnam county, near the west branch of the Croton river. This is to be used as a storage reservoir, and is calculated to contain twenty-four hundred millions of callons, enough one would nundred millions of gallons; enough, one would hink, with the reservoirs now in use, to secure our city against drouth for some time to come. The great fear which oppresses us is, that through the delays and shortcomings of the contractors, the work may not be accomplished before we begin to suffer in reality for want of a supply.

During the past two months there have been n this city eleven murders and manslaughters sixty-two shootings, stabbings and other feloni ous assaults of a desperate character; nineteer suicides, and the founding of one "red hot" Democratic daily paper—a load of wickedness heavy enough, your readers will be apt to think, to sink New York out of sight. Bu we still remain among the cities of the Plain. The most "interesting" criminal event of the past week is the arrest of a woman and her daughter for defrauding a paper collar manu-facturer out of a heavy sum by series of bold deceptions.

ce from South America, Central Americ nd the West Indies received by Messrs. Hostetter & mith during the last twelve months were published at ength, it would probably be considered one of the most extraordinary collections of approbatory testimony or ecord. The letters, written in every variety of style and emanating from individuals of almost every class are, nevertheless, all of the same tenor. Physicians, priests, merchants, planters, military officers, artisan awyers, etc., tell one story, admitting, without reserve qualification, that the tonics heretofore in use in those regions have been generally and justly superseded by HOSTETTER'S BITTERS. The confidence manifested by the people of these

The foreign orders for the article from Europe, Austra ia, New Zeeland, China, Japan, East Indies, Cape of Good Hope, Sandwich Islands, etc., have been heavier than at any former period. As an antidote to malaris, a stomachic and general
