A Massacre of Seal Pups by Italian Fishermen.

THIRTY-FOUR SHOTS ARE FIRED.

A Disgraceful Narrative for the Progress of the Seal in the Bay Area—An Act Which Shows the Need for Legislation.

The Cliff Seal was abundant on the coast of California for many years, and was a valuable article of commerce. It was especially abundant in the bay area, where it was killed and eaten. The fishermen of the bay area have been killing them for many years, and the result has been a gradual decrease in their numbers. It is now said that the seal is nearly exterminated, and that the fishermen are doing so with impunity.
