Praises Glenwood Highly

Dr. E. J. C. Sward, of Oakland, Nebruska, registered at the Hotel Glenwood Saturday morning. With nim are Mr. Holmquist, a grain and lumber dealer of Oakland, P. Gleason, a wealthy ranchman from the same place, Oliver Waite of Lyons, Nebraska, and Oscar Waite, a merchant in Laurel, Nobraska.

Dr. Sward is an enthusiastic ad-mirer of Glenwood Springs. "Climute?" he said, "Oh yes, we have a good climate at home, but this beats it, two to one!" Dr. Sward is taking the baths, for rheumatism. "It's the greatest cure I know of," he said. "I felt the good effects before I had taken the treatment two days. I shall certainly send all of my rheumatic patients here. I was advised to come by doctors in Omaha, who said there was nothing in the country to equal the Glenwood hot springs, and I certainly believe it. I have always considered Colorado the place for tubercular patients and have been in the habit of sending them to Colorado Springs, but hereafter I shall prescribe Glenwood. I have four patients now in Colorado Springs who are going to join as shortly. Then again, the air is such a tonic for nervous patients. One of the men in my party had been brought almost to nervous prostration by business responsibilities. I can see the improvement in his condition already. He is so charmed with the place that he has decided to stay all summer. I feel that Glenwood's superiority as a health resort isn't sufficiently well known. If physicians generally could have the experience with it that I am naving the town would be crowded and over-flowing all the year around? And besides, as a pleasure resort, it is difficult to praise it too highly. A half dozen friends of mine have agreed with me to charter a special car next year and bring our families out here for a good time. And such scenery! It is magnificent! The ride from Denver, slone, is worth the trip! I can stay only two or three weeks, this summer, but as I say, we are coming again next year. I feel that I have found the ideal place for a summer's vacation "

AUTOMOBILE JOURNEY FROM SAN FRANCISCO TO NEW YORK

Tuesday morning at 11:15 an enthusiastic crowd of Glenwood's citizens welcomed the representatives of the Packard Car Company in their continent touring automobile, the Pacific. E T. Fetch and N. O. Allen. the chauffeurs who are making this remarkable journey, were accompanied by an Associated Press representative, M. C. Krarup, of New York. The party left San Francisco, June 20, expecting to make the trip across the country to New York in two months. They have now passed the most difficult part of the route and it is quite probable that the ride will take less time than they expected.

It is to Senator Taylor and J. W. Abbott, the western representative of United States, that Glenwood owes the Bell. visit of the motor car, and the tourists owe their trip over one of the most picturesque roads in the country, They had originally intended to travel by way of the Cheyenne road, but were persuaded to change their itinerary through Colorado.

Tramps Brutally Assaulted

Shortly after six o'clock Monday evening the Greeks employed on the track of the D. & R. G. Ry. raised a rough house that resulted rather seriously for two peripatetic wanderers from Park City, Utah. The Greeks' car had been broken into by some unlongings had been appropriated. They Taylor and also a fine residence corpromptly started out for revenge. It happened at that moment that the tourlats before suggested were taking a brief siesta a short distance away. They were rudely aroused from their rest by a sudden onslaught of some twenty excited foreigners, and both Kelly and Ryan were badly battered

The trial, wnich was delayed by some difficulty in securing an interpreter, was held Wednesday after-The leader of the gang was fined fifty dollars and costs, and the others from five to twenty-five dollars. The costs will average about eighteen dollars apiece.

In the absence of District Attorney Gray, Ed. T. Taylor prosecuted the offenders against the peace and dignity of the state. Judge Noonan was to have represented Greece but the manner in which he was approached was not befitting the dignity of the legal profession and after looking up numerous authorities and partially preparing a case of defense he declined to proceed further unless, the Greeks were willing to raise the auto. They failed to raise and the judge proceeded with the stacking of his alfalfa.

Under the Torrens Law

To show his faith in the new Torrens land title law, Senator Taylor, the author of the bill, who has been made public examiner of titles for this county has filed the first applications for title under the new law. Mr. Taylor includes in the petition the known person, and some of their be- residence property belonging to Mrs. ner of his own, on Eighth and Bennett Gulch. known as the Christian church property

Under this law a petition is filed with the clerk of the district court and friends. another with the county clerk and recorder. The matter is then referred to the examiner of titles, who investi- printed at this office. Waters photogates the matter and makes written grapher. report to the district judge.

The judge orders a publication of a notice setting forth the day of hear ing. If, at the hearing, everything is favorable the judge issues a decree favorable to the applicant, the county clerk registers the title, and after the expiration of ninety days the decree of the court becomes final and the title is incontestable.

Strike Still on at Sunlight

held between the Rocky Mountain at this office Fuel company and a committee re-p resenting the striking Sunlight miners in the hope that amicable adinstment of the differences might be brought about. The agreement reached which was not made public appeared satisfactory to all concerned and the miners called off the strike, but the next day, for some reason not yet explained, declared it on again. It, is said that the terms of the settlement included the same scale of wages paid by the Colorado Fuel & Iron company and the employment of both union and non-union men without discrimination.

The company is working right along with its present force of men just as though nothing had happened and the force is being increased almost daily.

you may go from Alexandria to Khartum in about six days, says the London Standard. Easily and smoothly you wing through the fertile cotton fields of the delta and its populous cities and villages, prosperous but dirty, and at Cairo you settle down into a most comfortable sleeping car for the night journey to Luxor. Early next morning you are in the cane fields of upper Egypt, with the river close on one side and the desert on the other.

At Luxor you must change to the narrow gauge for Assouan, and there is time to refresh yourself with bath and breakfast and to look across at the plain of Thebes and the valley of the tomb of the kings, or to ride a donkey out to Karnak. From Luxor to Assouan it is hot and dusty enough, and you are glad to rest there for the night. Next day you embark at Shel-lal, above the dam, for Wady Halfa, a leisurely voyage of three days. It is a most beautiful reach of the river; the hills come down to the water in bold, rugged outlines, showing to perfection in the pure, dry desert air. The effect of the dam is clearly seen as far as Korosko. First of all, at Shellal the boat is moored amid a grove of palm trees, the temples of Nubian villages look quaint enough as they stand on the edge of the desert, forlornly mourning their strip of cultivated land, most of which the greedy reservoir has swallowed.

The boundary between Egypt and the Sudan, settled by the convention of 1899, runs along the twenty-second parallel; not far beyond this is the frontier town of Halfa. There is no mis- and, an hour or two later, we can into taking the signs of British rule. The the terminus at Halfaya.

Traveling by the ordinary methods I whole place is rigidly clean, an extraordinary contrast to the filth of the Egyptian villages. The streets are well laid out and scrupulously swept, and shady avenues of trees are springing up. Halfa is the railway terminus of the Sudan. It is twenty-eight hours to Khartum. Nothing can be more com-fortable than the well-appointed sleeping-car train, which runs twice a week Starting at eight in the evening, you strike right across the Baynda desert, most desolate and forlorn of countries. The stations have no names, but are known merely by their numbers. In the morning you come to Abu Hamed

-back to the Nile once more. Here was the scene of one of the stiffest fights in the Sudan campaign, when Gen. Hunter made his dash from Korki, and here are the graves of the white officers of the Tenth Sudanese battalion, round which the black soldiers who died with them keep ghostly watch and ward torever, and so redeem the credit of the regiment, which come back from the battle without its leader. From here coward the journey is full of interest. Berber is springing up again from its ruins; it even boasts two stations. Then comes the Atbara, with its famous bridges, and then Matiner, where there is this year a camp of exercise for the Egyptian army. The camp had a most businesslike appearance. Just as we arrived a train came steaming in with a battalion of infantry, all in full marching order; it was exactly like a regiment detraining at the front in real war. # RICH FINDS MADE IN OLD TOMBS IN EGYPT coveries made recently at Beni Hasan, a site in Egypt famous for its painted tombs and early architectural features, are detailed by Prof. John Garstang, of University college, Liverpool.

A vast necropolis has been unearthed, remarkable for the preservation of the furniture in its tombs and for the wealth of material which these supplied in illustrating the burial customs of the Middle Empire. Four hundred and ninety-two tombs hewn in the rock have been opened and examined. More than 100 of them had never been previously entered since their doors were closed at the time of interment 4,000 years before.

In the tomb of one Nefer-y, a chief physician, the huge painted coffin was surrounded by a number of wooden models of objects and scenes familiar from the wall paintings of the larger Noted Yaqui Officer Dead.

Recent Sonora papers contain ac-counts of the death of Loreto Villa, a noted Yaqui chieftain, which occurred, as a result of a gradual decline from many wounds received in warfare, at Tetiacombate, on the Yaqui river, upon the 21st ult. At the time of the surrender of the Yaquis and treaty at Ortiz in 1897, Villa was the third in rank among the Yaquis. He accepted the amnesty there granted and lived faithfully to its provisions. When the disaffected among their number arose in 1899, killing their head chief. Tetibiate, who also stood for the observance of the treaty, Loreto Villa, with a band of 200 followers, took the field against his rebellious fellow tribesmen, and has done most effective service ever since. His command was organized as a bat-tallon of the National Guard, and he was commissioned as major. He had been also awarded the "cross of mill-tary merit" for his vallant services. In his demise the federal government loses a most faithful and valorous officer and soldier.-Nogales (Ariz.) Oasis.

A Modern Cannery

A modern cannery is a marvel of mechanical ingenuity. After the fish is cleaned, automatic machines do nearly all the remainder of the work, even in some instances, filling the cans with a motion for all the world like that of two human hands, one holding the can, the other crowding it full of raw fish. I shall not attempt to enter into a description of the machinery. The can of fish is started rolling on its way, and one has the impression that it continues to roll through machine after machine, hardly touched by human hands. It rolls into the cooker and out again—even rolls itself into a highly again—even rolls itself into a bright-colored label—and finally, somehow, it rolls into a packing box, ready to be loaded in a car waiting at the door.— Ray Stannard Baker in June Century.

Colorado Range Outlook.

It has been the general impression that Colorado would have but a light run from the ranges in this state this season. This idea has been based upon the fact that the run last year was exceedingly heavy and the winter was long and hard. In addition to this there were comparatively few cattle sent into the western part of this state this season. However, reports state this season. However, reports coming from the western part of the states from those who have been investigating, would indicate that the run will be nearly, if not quite, as heavy this fall as last. While the run last fall was heavy, it was not nearly to the run that fall was heavy. as heavy at it might have been if the railreads could have taken care of the cattle. This season the grass is good and a larger percentage of the cat-tle will be fit for beef than usual. On lop of this there is none too much hay in sight anywhere and a majority of the cattlemen are preparing to ship out as closely as possible.

One feature indicated is an unusually large number of cows for slaughter.
The exact cause of this is not clear. but there seems to be a disposition to clear up all the old stock this seems and by December there will be fewer cattle in western Colorado than there have been in years

DOCTORS FINALLY ABANDON ALL HOPE OF POPE'S RECOVERY

Rome, Tuesday, July 14.—In the darkened apartments in the vatican, where the aged Pope Leo XIII. maintained day after day his marvelous battle for life, hope died hours ago. Swiftly the remnants of the brave partments of the brave partments at the remnants of the brave partments. tient's extraordinary vitality were stolen away during the day and evening. For the first time since he was stricken the pontiff had had periods of fleeting delirium. His sleep was fitful. He suffered physical distress and was frequently unconscious.

Shortly after midnight the crisis arrived. The physicians felt that there could be but one outcome, and in haste they summoned to the vatican all of Leo's relatives and called to the sick room Cardinals Rampollo and Gotti and other church dignitaries.

Another indication late last night of the closeness of the pontiff to death was the urgent calling of Dr. Rossoni to the vatican by Dr. Lapponi, in spite of the fact that the former physician was ill of fever. The need of an imme-diate consultation was considered imperative.

Among the watchers about the vatican the belief was general last night that the Pope could not last another day. While the night's bulletins stated that the pontiff was not in immediate day. While the night's bulletins stated that the pontiff was not in immediate danger, there was ample reason to believe that the end was not far off. At noon yesterday the pontiff sank into a connitose condition, and continued insensible for hours with rare intervals of lucidity.

During these periods the patient rec-

It was reported that the physicians were relying for the prolongation of the patient's life wholly upon the use of stimulants. The result of the analysis of the fluid extracted from the Pope's thorax was kept secret. The report that it was to be published was denied. It is understood, however, that nothing; was found to indicate the presence of cancer or tuberculosis.

There is much comment in Rome be-cause the bulletins of the condition are appearing without Dr. Rossoni's name. It was publicly explained that this was due to his illness from fever. It was reported, however, that the real reason was that on Friday evening Rosson, who has been the least hopeful of the physicians, protested against the indi-

SATURDAY, JULY 18, 1903.

There are only a few places in the world where energy is considered a crime. Even in Glenwood there are only two or three fellows to adopt this definition. How lonesome these fellows must feel.

When Glenwood's new depot is completed our town will just more than sling on the style. The best on the road is good enough for us and that is what the Rio Grande has promised Glenwood.

Next week, thanks to the Tom Patterson democracy, Colorado will be burdened with an extra session of the legislature. Following so close on the heels of the Endeavorers, the solons will surely furnish the Denver city with a lively contrast. Asians

They say that science has · utilized in a commercial way every portion of the hog except the grunt and now if some ingenious cuss will only turn tnat to financial account he can make a fortune by just going up Eighth street to Cooper avenue and turning to the right. There's millions in it.

That the democracy of the country is in desperate straits no better proof is required than the pretty generally accepted statement that the nomination for the presidency in 1904 will either go to Grover Cleveland or Bill Glenwood Springs, Colo-Hearst. When it becomes generally known that its actoss up as to which of these two satesmen shall be named as standard bearer in a forlorn cause, it will be easily explained why republicanism is everywhere wearing a smile that "won't come off." President Roosevelt has given to the country such an admirable administration that even lifelong democrats are shouting his praises and conceding his election and the idea of Hearst or Cleveland going up against such a bundle of strenuosity, oh, ho-ho, it makes us laugh.

With each recurring Fourth of July it becomes more certain that the da: is degenerating from the once great Lelorious "Independence" day into too, to vie with each other in the production of noise. To such extent drive a team through the streets of there to show cause why nu order city, town or hamlet while to walk should not be made directing the said step and relatives and doctors are at a their patients to guarantee them reas din which threatons them with dis. in said Garfield county, traction should they remain in the city. The increase in fatalities with each return of the national birthday July 11 Aug. 1. is due to the fact that the day is so thoroughly given up to sports and noise and the further fact that the manufacturers, in order to supply the demand each year bring out some form of noise producer, more powerful and dangerous than any of its predecessors. Flags and bunting and firecrackers and common black gunpowder were once sufficient evidence of one's patriotism, but in these latter days to such proportions has grown the patriotic bubble within the human broast that nothing short of powerful cannon crackers and other products of dynamite will serve to jar it in proper fashion. In the west the public render of the Declaration of Independence. that magna charta of American libertion, has almost entirely disappeared and the patriotic orator seems fast fiding away into innocuous desuctude. tra.

Valvular Heart Disease Threatened.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure Cured Me.

The effect of excessive smoking shown by such symptoms as heart pains, heartburn, smothering spells, shortness of breath fluttering and palpitation, is most serious. If your heart is in any way affected you should at once begin the use of Dr. Miles' Heart Cure which enriches the blood, regulates the heart's action and improves the circulation.

Gure which enriches the blood, regulates the heart's action and improves the circulation.

"I am a local newspaper man and have been an inveterate smoker since my boyhood. A little over a year ago I first noticed symptoms of heart trouble, palpitation and acute pains and a peculiar, I might say, indescribable feeling across my chest. Local physicians said I had 'tobacco heart.' I quit smoking for a while and took regular dose, of digitalis and belladona with some relief but the same old symptoms were still there. A friend of mine here recently died of what the doctor said was valvular disease of the heart, Knowing that his symptoms were similar to mine I felt that my time too was limited, although I am still a young man, in my thirty-ninth year. In Skillman & Stone's drug store here Dr. Miles' New. Heart Cure was recommended. I began taking it and I can positively state that its effect is marvelous. I have just finished my third bottle and feel like a 'kid' and believe I am cured. This letter is the spontaneous utterance of one who wishes to thank you for benefits received."—WM. N. These are but a few of the thoughts which present tnemselves to the writer. as he reflects upon the apparent degeneracy of the day originally set apart for the inculcation of the principles of patriotism and the love for American institutions.

there seemed no prospect of relief. Hot as Thursday had been, it was far pleasanter than yesterday, when the mer-cury bounded upward as the sun rose in the sky. It had been oppressive in the early morning, when thousands were robbed of their sleep by the torpid pall covering the metropolis and the entire neighboring country. Even up in the tower of the weather bureau the thermometer registered 78 degrees at 3 in the morning, running up to 80 degrees at 8 o'clock, 88 at 10 and 93 at noon, reaching its highest point, 94, between Falls, the hottest of the yea 1 and 2. once more. 'Oh, Richard, my lover, my husband! Now I will hasten to see thee."

She reached London the next night, and, weary and terrified, drove at once to the small hostlery where Hyde lay.

"Katherine!" he cried; and his voice was as weak and as tearful as that of a troubled child. "Here come I, my dear one."

"Oh, how you love me, Katherine!" She took from her bosom the St. Nicholas ribbon. "I give it to thee again. At the first time I loved thee; now, my husband, ten thousand times more I love thee. As I went through the papers, I found it."

And between their clasped hands it Jay-the bit of orange ribbon that had handseled all their happiness.

"It is the promise of everything I can give thee, my loved one," whispered Katherine.

"It is the luck of Richard Hyde. Dearest wife, thou hast given me my "life back again."

CHAPTER XV.

Turning Westward.

It was a hot August afternoon, and Hyde sat at an open window at Hyde Manor. He was pale and wasted from his long sickness, but there was specplation and purpose in his face, and he had evidently cast away the mental apathy of the invalid. As he sat thus, a servant entered and said a few words which made him turn with a glad, expectant manner to the open Adoor; and, as he did so, a man of near sixty years of age passed through it —a handsome, lordly looking man, who had that striking personal resemblance to Hyde which affectionate brothers often have to one another.

Faith, William, you are welcome home! How delighted I am to see

'Tis twelve years since we met Dick. And Hyde Manor is a miracle. I expected to find it mouldy and mossy. On the contrary it is a place of perfect beauty."

"And it is all my Katherine's doing. She is my angel. I am unworthy of her goodness and beauty."

Why, then, Dick, I may as well tell you that I have also found a treasure past belief of the same kind. In fact, Dick, I am married, and have two

There was a moment's profound silence, and an . inexplicable , shadow passed rapidly over Hyde's face; but it was fleeting as a thought, and, ere the pause became strained and pain ful, he turned to his brother and said, I am glad, William. With all my heart, I am glad." "I was married very quietly, and shave been in Italy ever since. I was told that you had left the army."

"That is exactly true. When I heard that Lord Percy's regiment was designed for America, and against the Americans, I put it out of the king's power to send me on such a busi-

"Indeed, I think the Americans have been ill-used, and I find the town in a great commotion upon the matter, The people of New York have burned offigies of Lord North and Gov. Hutchinson, and the new troops were no sooner landed than five hundred of them deserted in a body."

Hyde's white face was crimson with excitement, and his eyes glowed like stars as he listoned. "That was like Now York; and, faith, if I had been there, I would have helped them!"

"Why not go there? I owe you much for the hope, of which my happiness has robbed you. I will take Hyde Manor at its highest price; I will add to it fifty thousand pounds indemnity for the loss of the succession. You may they land enough for a duchy there, and found in the New World a new line of the old family, Dick, my dear brother, out of real love and honor, I speak these words."

"Indeed, William, I am very sensible of your kindness, and I will consider well your proposition. I think, indeed, that my Katherine will be in a transport of delight to return to her native land."

Almost with the words she entered, clothed in a white India muslin, with carnations at her breast. The carl bowed low, and then kissed her cheeks and led her to a chair, which he placed between Hyde and himself.

Katherine was predisposed to emigration, but yet she dearly leved the home she had made so beautiful. During Hyde's convaloscence, also, other plans had become very hopeful and Dleasant, and they could not be cast aside without some reluctance.

It was on a cold, stormy afternoon in February, when the fens were white with snow. Hyde sat by the big wood fire, re-reading a letter from Joris Van Heemskirk, which also inclosed a copy of Josiah Quincy's speech on the Boston Port Bill. Katherine had a piece of worsted work in her hands. It was at this moment Lettice came in with a bundle of newspapers. "They be brought by Bir Thomas Swaffham's man; sir, with Sir Thomas, compli-ments; there being news he thinks "The American quarrel, Richard?" "No other could so move me. Every good man and true wishes them well.

Are you willing?"
"Only to be with you,only to please you, Richard. I have no other happiness."

"Then it is settled. The earl buys Hyde as it stands; we have nothing except our personal effects to pack. Write to-night to your father. him that we are coming in two weeks to cast our lot with America."

When Joris Van Heemskirk received this letter he was very much excited by its contents.

He was sitting in the calm evening, with unloosened buckles, in a cloud of fragrant tobacco, talking of these things. Then he put on his hat and walked down his garden. He was standing on the river bank, and the meadows over it were green and fair to see, and the fresh wind blew into his soul a thought of its own untrammeled liberty. He looked up and down the river, and lifted his face to the clear sky, and said aloud, "Beautiful land! To be thy children we should not deserve, if one inch of thy soil we yielded to a tyrant. Truly a vaderland to me and to mine thou hast been. Truly do I love thee."

Then, with his mind made up, he went into the house.

In a few minutes Elder Semple came He looked exceedingly worried. and, although Joris and he avoided politics by a kind of tacit agreement. he could not keep to kirk and commercial matters, but constantly returned to one subject—a vessel lying at Murray's wharf, which had sold her cargo of molasses and rum to the 'Committee of Safety."

Joris let the elder drift from one grievance to another, and he was just n the middle of a sentence contain ing the opinion of Sears and Willet, when Bram's entrance arrested it. He walked straight to the side of Joris:

"Father, we have closed his majesty's custom house forever."

We! Who, then, Bram?" "The Committee of Safety and the Sons of Liberty." Semple rose to his feet, trembling with passion. "Let me tell you, then, Bram, you are a parcel o' rogues, and rebels; and, if I were his majesty, I'd gibbet the last ane o' you."

"Patience, elder." Sit down, I'll speak"-

"No, councillor, I'll no sit down until I ken what kind o' men I'm sitting wi'. Oot wi' your maist secret thoughts. Wha are you for?"

"For the people and for freedom, am "said Joris, calmly rising to his feet. "Too long have we borne injust tice. Bram, my son, I am your comrade in this quarrel." He spoke with fervent, but not rapid speech, and with a firm, round voice, full of magical sympathies.

"I'll hear nae mair o' such folly. Gie me my bonnet and plaid, madam, and I'll be going. I hope the morn will bring you a measure of commonsense." He was at the door as he spoke; but, ere he passed it, he lifted his bonnet above his head and said, "God save the king! God save his gracious majesty, George of Eng-

In the meantime Semple, fuming and ejaculating, was making his way slowly home. However, before he had gone very far, he was overtaken by his son Nell, now a very staid and stately gentleman, holding under the government a high legal position in the investigation of the disputed New Hampshire grants.

He listened respectfully to his father's animadversions on the folly of the Van Heemskirks; but he was thinking mainly of the first news told him—the early return of Katherine. He was conscious that he still loved Katherine, and that he still hated Hyde. So Nell was somber and silent. His father was uncertain as to his views, and he did not want to force or

He was standing on the step of his high counting desk as he spoke, and he peered over the little wooden railing at the men scattered about with pens or hammers or goods in their hands. There was a moment's silence, then a middle-aged man quietly laid down the tools with which he was closing a box, and walked up to the desk. The next moment, every one in the place had followed him. Semple was amazed and angry, but he made no sign of either emotion. He counted to the most accurate fraction every one's due, and let them go without one word of remonstrance.

GESTURES IN GENERAL USE.

Motions That Are Common to All Nations of the Earth.

Certain gestures are absolutely identified with certain feelings. To shake one's fist is to threaten; to hold up one's finger is to warn. To indicate thought we place the tips of the fingers on the forehead; to show concentrated attention we apply the whole hand. To rub the hands is everywhere a sign of joy, and to clap them a sign of enthusiasm. It would be easy to multiply examples. Affirmation, negation, repulsion are all indicated by motions that every one understands.

It is the same, in quite as great a degree, with nationalities, in spite of the original diversity of the races that make them up. The mimetic cnaracter results at, once from race, from history and from climate.

The gesture of the Englishman is flerce and harsh; he speaks briefly, abstation is cold and accentuated, but his handshake is loyal. The gesture of Germany is heavy, good humored and always ungraceful. Many of the Slav people are unwilling to look one in the face, and they have a false gesture.

The Spaniard and the Portuguese. although dwelling in a Southern land, gesticulate little; their language is rythmic, slow, solemn; they are grave, their salutation is a little theatrical.

The Italian is lively, mobile, intelligent, gay; his language is harmonious, sonorous, warm and luminous, like his country's sky. The salutation of the Italian is quick and full of feeling, his gestures colored and exaggorated.

Bohemian Glass Blowers.

About 1,000 skilled glass cutters in twenty towns in Bohemia have struck. Work is done by the piece at prices which give the average wage forty-five cents a day. The skill of these famous' liohemian glass cutters depends upon the fact that they are trained to it from the age of six years. Much of the work is done in homes with foot power lathes, and one-third of the artisans are women.

On Maui, the Haiku, Paia, Hawaiian Commercial and Kikel plantations are using oil. On this island and Kahuku, Waialua, Oahu and Honolulu are using it and Ewa will be in a few weeks. In this city, the in a few weeks. In this city the Young building is burning oil, and at the beginning of this week the Rapid Transit Company converted all of its furnaces into oil burners. So far as reported, the change is working satisfactorily on all of the plantations, with a uniform reduction in cost of ap-proximately thirty-six per cent. In addition to the saving in dollars, oil fuel has three distinct advantages over coal. First, it requires much less labor to handle it. This is a serious consideration on the plantations, where every labor-saving device and process should be jostered as a means of meeting the demand for labor. Any machine, device or process which enables one man to lo the work of two, even though its operation costs as much as the two men do, is a distinct advance. as it reduces the requirements for la-borers by fifty per cent. in connection with that particular work. This is an important consideration now, and it may in the future prove most vital.

Second, it is a clean fuel. Instead of a grimy, dusty and disagreeable spot, such as the regulation coal firing room, is where oil fuel is in use, the free room becomes a show place, clean as a parlor, while the fireman wears a "biled shirt" and a standing collar, if his tastes run that way.

Third, it is smokeless. Not comparatively so, but absolutely smokeless. If any smoke issues from the smokestack, it is proof positive that there is some defect in the burner used, or in the arrangement of the furnere. An Inspection of the Rapid Transit furnace and smokestack will demonstrate this fact to any one who desires to rove it.

This last-named advantage is of reat importance in Honolulu. With great importance in Honolulu. only soft coal available, even the few fuel-using concerns in town were becoming a serious nuisance to all in their immediate neighborhood. A few more years of development would have made us a small Pittsburg, so far as the smoke nuisance is concerned. No moke producer in Honolulu can hereafter plead that he cannot prevent it.

With cheapness, economy of labor, cleanliness and abolition of smoke in its favor, there does not seem to be any reason why oil should not, at an early date, entirely supersede coal in Hawaii, as a power producing fuel. Its early adoption here is evidence of the progressive spirit of our people and their ability to keep step with the age

OSTRICH LOGIC.

"When I can't see danger there is no danger." That's the logic of the ostrich which hides its head and exposes its which hides its head and exposes its body to the hunter. There are not a few people who seem to have gone to the ostrich to learn logic. The most dangerous enemies of humanity are the enemies which can't be seen, the disease breeding microbes which infect the blood. It is harder to get the microbe out of the blood than to keep it out, but Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery does both, by purifying the blood and then keeping it pure.

If there are eruptions on the skin, boils, pim-ples, sores or other signs of impure blood, use Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discov-Medical ery, which will purify the blood and cure the eruptions which come from it.

"My blood was all out of order, and I had to go to the doctor," writes Mrs. James R. Moss, New London, Stanly Co., N.C. "He gave me medicine which helped me for a short time. In the winter of 1895 I got worse than I had ever been. My tonsils were enlarged and my neck swollen all out of shape; my threat was sore and I could not cure it. My husband went for the doctor, but he gave me no encouragement. He helped me a little, but it did not last long. He attended me for twelve months, when I heard of a lady whose condition was like mine, who was taking your medicine and was getting well. So I secured some of the medicine and began taking it. In one week I was able to do my cooking. When I began taking the medicine I could sit up only a few minutes at a time, and I could rest or sleep only a little while at a time. My throat was so sore at times I could not even swallow sweet milk, and my tonsils were full of little eating sores. My left side was swollen out of shape and I could hardly get my breath. The doctor said I would not get well, but three bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, three bottles of his 'Pellets,' three bottles of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy and the use of sait water did the work and cured me." eruptions which come from it.
