THOROUGHBREDS.

Glorious Weather and Fine Racing at Bay District.

McGINNIS TO THE FORE.

Baggie Scores Two Victories and Camp Seal Suits His Fancies.

The sky yesterday was of the deepest kind of blue, just flecked here and there with the softest of white clouds. In fact, there was the brightest of sunshine and the most gentle and re-assuring of breezes.

From morning's earliest crowd of well-dressed, jolly looking and expectant people were moving toward the Bay District track, and the Bay District track, and the prospects of a large gathering were exceedingly bright.

What a crush of fashionable beauty the cable-horses had to endure, and what triumphs of the dressmaker's and milliner's art were displayed!

The triangle was filled with buggies, coaches and landaus, all carrying freights of daintily dressed humanity, and the grand stand and the broad sandlots fronting in the fashionable lessees, while last, but not least, that fashionable "chestnut," Baldwin's block bedded, red-and-sled drag rolled in with its customary flourish of trumpets and its usual complement of spirited horses and aspiring drivers.

WAS WORTH SEEING.

At 2 o'clock there were probably 4,000 persons at the track, among whom were the following: Colonel J. D. Fredericks, Wm. Corbett, Frank Cavalla, R. P. Doolan, C. C. THE RACING.

The racing yesterday was close and exciting, and the fields were large. Some of the horses filling the bookmakers who had been hard hit on previous days to make somewhat of a recovery.

The first race was for all ages, selling, three-quarters of a mile, brought out a field of four. The distance was a mile and a sixteenth.

Betting on this affair was not brisk, and the accompanying cut shows the apathetic condition of the bookmakers while waiting for the boys to get started.

That the race was here can a foregone conclusion, and very little wagering was done on the favorite.

The book odds for the other three fillies were 3 to 1 each, while Sunday was backed down to 2½ to 1, which, when boosted together as the field are offered at 3 to 1.

Sunday was the favorite, literally so betting the quartet off, requiring nearly two feet pieces the patronized the position from post the start to the finish, and she won in a gallop by two and one-half lengths from Sweetwater.

At the quarter Sunday still led. At the half Sweetwater had moved up to second place, while Gusto took the lead from Sweetwater.

Three, about her competitors, but Sweetwater passed the whole and was by a half length, Gusto 3, Carrosty ribbon, being second and Sweetwater fourth.

Pari-mutuel paid $6 20.

THE TWO-YEAR-OLD HANDICAP.

The second race was a handicap for two-year-olds, five-eighths of a mile, and brought out a fair field of starters. Sweetwater was the favorite, Sweetwater's favorite at 1 to 2; Carmelita's favorite at 2 to 1, and Sunday Morning and Mary Hamilton 20 to 1 and Gusto 30 to 1.

The last will away to a good start, Carmelita leading, Sweetwater second, Mary Hamilton third and Sunday Morning next to the outer rail. Jockey and horses were cavorting in this order when the quarter was reached.

At the half Carmelita and Mary Hamilton were in the reverse order, Sweetwater second, Sunday Morning third and Gusto fourth.

The three-quarter mile Sweetwater was the favorite behind the rest of the gang and got up in time.

Carmelita led into the homestretch, with Mary Hamilton on her heels, but half way up Sweetwater had passed her and Carmelita, and Sweetwater, Sweetwater winning handily, Carmelita down, by a head length from her stable companion, Mary Hamilton third, Sunday Morning fourth, Gusto fifth, Chilcoot sixth and Harry Mac Eckhart in the rear instead.

SUMMARY.

Purse $400; handicap for two-year-olds. Seven furlongs.

Motlinski' Grand Race.

The third race was for all ages, selling, one-mile handicap, and only horses that had started during the meeting and not won were eligible. The distance was one mile and an eighth.

The race lacks skilled citizen entries, but Motlinski's grand race was a good one, and resulted, backing only eight to one the starting favorite.

There was a very even start and good all around gathering.

When the starters went up that of Ed Mellon was the first to show them, and the favorite defended the money to those who had backed him.

When the others were at the starting post, Motlinski was in the lead, with Sweetwater, Sir Walter, Sir and Gusto outclosing was in the order named.

Jockey Mellon, Police Court official was responsible that Motlinski was not going to start, and he was not going to start, and he was not going to start, and he
