ANOTHER DEFAULTER.

The Secretary of the Odd Fellows' Bank Levants.

A LETTER HIS ONLY LEGACY

The Amount of His Peculations Not Yet Developed-The Depositors Will Not Sustain Any Loss.

Commercial and banking circles again have gos commercial and banking circles again lave gos sip for an honr owing to the elopement of Bobert Crichton, Secretary of the Odd Fellows' Bank, with a considerable quantity of the bank funds. The last seen of the young man was between one and two o'clock Monday afternoon. He left the office about noon, leaving a card which bore the inscription, "Gone to Wells, Fargo & Co.'s," but was seen an hour later on the street. No one had any suspicion of theft until the following morning, when the card still remained on the door, and the safe was found open. The conclusion was imme-mediately jumped at that he had left the office and gone immediately on board the Australian steamer, which sailed at 3 P. M., and giving up all hopes of capturing him, the Directors of the bank set selves to work to ascertain the amount of Crichton's peculations. The books were found to balance as far as they went, but the depositors' re-ceipt book could not be found, and without it the others were useless.

MEETING OF THE DIRECTORS.

MEETING OF THE DIRECTORS. An executive meeting of the Directors of the de-funct bank was held at 4 r. M. yesterday, and at the conclusion, Mr. David Hunter, the President of the bank, was interviewed concerning the mat-ter. He stated that as far as he knew there had been no depreciation of the funds of the bank or ony defalcation by the former Secretary, who had left town through family disagreements only. In-formation having been received that the receipt book in which the depositors signed for their divi-dends in liquidation of the affairs of the bank had disappeared, another Director was sought out and dends in liquidation of the affairs of the bank had disappeared, another Director was songht out and the following information was obtained. Some time during the month of October last, it came to the knowledge of the Directors that Crichton had been leading a fast life and spending money be-yond the amount of his salary, and an investigation of his books was undertaken by an expert. Crich-ton was informed that the matter was being inves-tigated and offered no objection. The expert failed to find any discrepancies in the books and on the S1st of October pronounced the accounts correct. Matters ran along in the usual course until last Tneeday morning, when one of the Directors called at the bank office and found the doors closed with this notice posted on the doors: "Gone to with this notice posted on the door: "Gone to Wells Fargo's and to place some insurance." As the safe door was also open and the time was before bank hours, suspicions were excited and the door forced open. In the safe was found about $3,750 in coin and currency, but no clue to the missing Scorecter. Secretary.

A FAREWELL LETTER.

A FAREWELL LETTER. During the day a Director received a long letter, dated Saturday afternoon, from Crichton, in which he stated that he had left "this wicked and sinful place" and "gone to parts where he could find peace and quiet." That he implored the Di-rectors not to attempt to bring him back, as it would do no good, as he would only languish in prison, and that if any shortage should be dis-covered, it would not be more than the loss sus-tained by the bank on a certain ranch which they covered, it would not be more than the loss sus-tained by the bank on a certain ranch which they had been compelled to take under forcelosure, and that had been sold at a figure by which the bank made a bad loss. He claimed that his troubles had been occasioned by wicked friends, who had helped him spend the stolen money in riotous liv-ing, and had then "given him away." He also claimed that his wife had taken him to task when his books were being investigated, and reproacted him, and that a quarrel had arisen, during which his wife had said she would never forgive him if he had done wrong and brought disgrace on her and his two little children. These troubles had so worked upon his conscience, so he said, that he determined to go away.

A WIFE'S SACRIFICE.

A WIFE'S SACRIFICE. In justice to his wife, it was also stated by the Director that she had sent word to the Directors yesterday afternoon that she had saved a small sum of money from her household allowances, and she earnestly begged to be allowed to pay this over to make good any shortage of her recreant husband. The lady is a niece of the President of the bank, and it was stated that no donbt she would be cared for by him. It is holieved by some that the ab and it was stated that no doubt she would be cared for by him. It is believed by some that the ab-sconder has not left this city, and that if discov-ered, the missing book, which is of more value than the man, will ultimately be found. If Crichton left on the Australian steamer on Mon-day afternoon, it is thought that he took the book in his trunk and that he will be overhauled at Anakland New Keeland makes he chould have Anckland, New Zealand, unless he should have stopped at Honolulu. Telegrams have been sent all over the country with the hope that he may be

How the Freebooters Are Received by the Russian Government. This season has been one of disaster to the ves-sels sailing into Behring and Okhotsk Seas to kill seals without a permit from the Russian Govern-ment. The joint firms of Hutchinson, Kohl, Phillippens & Co., and the Alaska Fur Company, have a practical monopoly of the seal-fisheries of the North Pacific, under the fostering care of the Russian Government, and any vessel that ventures in the Russian waters without a permit to trade is hunted as a freebooter. The companies above mentioned enjoy a lease the Russian Government of the from islands Robben, Copper and Behring, which embraces the entire seal grounds of the North, and the great bonanza is guarded with jealous care, the great bonanza is guarded with jealous care, not only by the Company's representatives, but by the Russian Government, which keeps a company of armed men there to "stand off" all comers. Captain Blair of the schooner Leon, in the em-ploy of the Alaska Commercial Company, has charge of Robben Island, and the slaughtering of seals thereon, being protected by a Lieutenant and twenty-one men of the Russian army.

POACHING ON THEIR DOMAINS.

POACHING ON THEIR DOMAINS. Poaching vessels are fitted out in Japan and at different island, ports, to trade illicitly with the natives on the islands, exchanging whisky for furs and skins. These vessels are usually manned by Japanese sailors, commanded by white officers. The Russian law punishing persons for so illegally trading with the natives and poaching on the seal preserves is very strict, embracing banishment to Siberia, and the confiscation of the vessel and cargo. Captain Blair of the schooner Leon, upon his recent arrival at this port for the Winter, re-ported the capture of the schooner Helen, which was sailing under the English flag, in the Okhotsk Sea, while making for the Island of Robben. When about two miles from the island she was dis-covered by the schooner Leon and the Russian cor-vete Rosbognick, with 400 men on board.

vette Roebognick, with 400 men on board. She then attempted to get away, but after a five honrs' chase was overhauled and brought back in tow. It was then discovered that she had liquor, skins and notions as a cargo, all contraband goods, and that her name had been erased from the stern. She was taken to Lawlaidstock to be condemned and her crew tried. It was subse-quently discovered that she had been trading at Kamtchatka, using liquor as exchange. Two other vessels were also captured—the Eliza, which was riding at anchor at the mouth of the river Anadir, Capt. Weston commanding (from Yokohama), and riding at anchor at the month of the river Anadir, Capt. Weston commanding (from Yokohama), and the Sophia Johnson in Behring Straits, while be-calmed. The latter hailed from San Francisco and was owned by J. McKenna and others. Both vessels having contraband goods on board were seized by the Russian corvette Rosbognick. The goods were destroyed and the vessels sent to Vladi-vostock under command of Russian officers.

A PITCHED BATTLE.

A PITCHED BATTLE. Captain Sanborn of the steamer Alexandria, be-longing to the Commercial Company, reports a fight as having occurred last July between the soldiers stationed on Copper Island and the crew of the schooner Saghalin. The Saghalin arrived off the island during the early part of the night, and lay to. A close watch was kept on her move-ments, but it becoming very dark she could not be clearly seen from shore. She manned two boats and sent them ashore, where they drove a great number of seals back of a promontory and had killed some three hundred when discovered. The soldiers charged down on them. The Japs became frightened and ran for the boats amid the firing of the soldiers. Only one was captured, and because ingineering and in the board and the board and the firing of the soldiers. Only one was captured, and he was wounded twice in the leg. From him the name of the schooner and the number of men on Captain Leon states that the full ber of men of Captain Leon states that the freebooters were too many for him last season, and he had to abandon his station for foar of annihilation, and apply to the Russian Government for protection. On his return to the island he found that all the buildings had been burned to the ground buildings had been burned to the ground.

THE SCHOONERS

Go to the North ostensibly to hunt sea otter, but Go to the North ostensibly to hint sea otter, but according to the Captain's account, there are no otters to be found, and the crews and officers know this when they start out, but they find specu-lators with more money than brains, who fit out the schooners only to have them confiscated, or re-turn with no cargo. The crews are safe enough, as they libel the vessel and get their wages, in many cases the schooner heing sold at anction to many cases the schooner being sold at anction to satisfy demands. In the meantime the Alaska Commercial Company lays back and snickers in its sleeve at the futile efforts of a few poor schooners and crews to glean a precarions livelihood by seal-stealing, un-der the difficulties that the company is doubtless responsible for imposing. The company gets the seals and the wealth while the schooners are conseals and the wealth while the schooners are con-fiscated for the benefit of the Russian Government, which is so jealous of these fishing grounds that it will not allow a vessel not floating the Russian flag and carrying a certificate of permission, to even sail in the sacred waters, the excesse being that the seal islands are so near the great penal colony of Saghalin, on the island of that name. There all the political prisoners are kept who suffer banishment, and the Government claims that there is danger of some of their prisoners escaping upon the schooners. The true cause, however, is that that Govern-ment receives a "rouble" for each seal-skin that is they get nothing for seals taken by the freewhile they get nothing for seals taken by the fre booting

THE BANE'S CONDITION. THE BANE'S CONDITION. The Odd Fellows' Savings Bank suspended during July, 1878, since which time there has been paid to depositors 65 per cent. of the amount due them. There is now npwards of $175,000 still on hand, deposited in various city banks, which is being held subject to the decision of Judge Rearden in the suit now pending. Shortly after the bank failed, an effort was made to respective it, and short $170,000 mms pending. Shortly after the bank failed, an effort was made to resuscitate it, and about $170,000 was subscribed by depositors and others towards a new capital of $250,000. It is claimed by some of the subscribers that the bank never reorganized, and that the money received as new capital was paid out at one end of the counter as fast as it came in at the other. These subscribers now claim that they are entitled to equal dividends on the money taken from their deposits as subscriptions to the new capital, and that the outsiders not depositors who put their money in should be paid in full. Should this view be taken in the case now pend-ing, only a small dividend will be paid to depos-itors. Otherwise, there are funds enough on hand to pay an additional dividend of 30 per cent. The former Secretary, Mr. Benson, has now been enformer Secretary, Mr. Benson, has now been en-gaged to take care of the books, and it is believed that there is still sufficient data left by which the amount of the deficit by Crichton can be as

The amount of money missing, as shown by the books still remaining in the bank, is said to be between $1,500 and $1,600, although it is believed that the deficit is much greater. The bank is said to be secured by a bond of $10,000, given by the missing Secretary, and President Hunter has assured his co-Directors that the depositors ill extern me her. will sustain no los

WHAT THE DETECTIVES SAY.

WHAT THE DETECTIVES SAY. Crichton resided at No. 1324 Scott street, where heaves a wife and children totally ignorant of his whereabouts. Detective Ben Bohen was de-tailed to investigate the case late Tuesday after-noon, and in an interview last night he stated that he had positive information that Crichton had not sailed for Australia Monday afternoon. The reporter suggested that the overland train left about the same time as the steamer, and that Crichton might have sped out of the State by that means. "I am not at liberty to either approve or contradict your opinion," replied the de-tective, "but I can tell you one thing—he is not in this city. I have sufficient trace of him to know that." Further inquiries elicited the fact receipt book than to capture Crichton, be without the book they were hopelessly at sea and at the mercy of depositors who had drawn greater or less amounts. From all that can be learned Crichton was madly infatuated with one of two Crichton was madly infatuated with one of two sisters, who moved in very good society up to a couple of years ago, but being led astray have since led a life of shame. These girls have prob-ably reaped the greater portion of the bank's loss, whether great or small. One reason for thinking the sum is not very large is the fact that so much money was left in the safe. If Crichton had been a heavy defaulter, beyond all prospect of repay-ment, the chances are that he would have gathered up everything before leaving, and would not have left any prospect of return. As it is now the genleft any prospect of return. As it is now the gen-eral opinion prevails that he is in hiding near by, intending to remain until his peculations could be made good by his friends, after which he would return, with little fear of arrest.

Dr. Dennis Exonerated. City Sorgeon Frank H. Dennis, who was charged by the County Medical Society with a violation of the code of ethics, in consequence of the publica-tion of articles in the daily press descriptive of surgical operations performed by him opon pa-tients at the Receiving Hospital, was yesterday wholly exonerated by that hody from all blame, as the circumstances were proven to be beyond his control. control.

A Warning to Mariners. Lientenar "mander H. E. Nichols, U. S. N., command._ United States steamer Pinta, re-ports a rock the existence of which has not been generally known. The rock has a least depth of generally known. The rock has a least depth of $2\frac{1}{2}$ feet over it, and is situated on the following bearings: Point Lookont, S. S. The Pinta anchored with the village open to the eastward of Cleft Island in ten fathoms of water, muddy bottom and excellent fathoms of water, muddy bottom and excellent holding-ground."

An Impatient Partner.

Austin Keely, an old resident of this city and late of Arizona and Los Angeles, was arrested here yesterday on a charge of embezzlement, pre-ferred by M. McGuirk, his Los Angeles partner. All the nerticulars that Detectives Coffee and Bre All the particulars that Detectives Coffey and By All the particulars that Detectives Coffey and Bye ram, the arresting officers, are in possession of are to the effect that McGuirk gave Keely $700 with which to purchase a saloon here, which he failed to do. Keely says that he was to put a similar amount with McGuirk's money, and that the sa-loon was to be a partnership arrangement, but a favorable opportunity had not offered up to the time of his arrest.

End of an Unhappy Life. Mrs. Nancy McMullen of No. 9 Bartol street died at 10 o'clock, Taesday night, under such sus-picions circumstances that the body was removed to the Morzue yesterday, and an inquest held. John McMullen, her husband, denied all knowledge of the cense of his wije's death but the testimenry of McMullen, her husband, denied all knowledge of the cause of his wife's death, but the testimony of Dr. E. P. Tierney and one or two of the neighbors soon determined that death was the result of a dose of strychnine taken with suicidal intent. Before death Mrs. McMullen informed the Doctor that her husband ill-treated her, and that she had taken poison because she did not desire to live un-happily with him any longer. A verdict of suicide was returned.

A Memorial Service.

A flemorial Service. As yet no memorial service has been held over the remains of Governor Stanford's son, who died in Europe, and on Sunday there will be an elab-orate and impressive ceremony in honor of his memory at Grace Church. Preparations for the event are now in progress. The decorations of the edifice will be very handsome. Rev. Dr. Newman of Washington, who accompanies the family and the remains, will preach a memorial sermon. The services will probably be exclusive, the congrega-tion including only the friends of the family and the members of the church.

Is It Community Property?

Caroline F. Hall snes the Nevada Bank and Administrator Roach to recover one half of $7,-500, left by Richard Hall, her divorced husband, which money, she alleges, accraed during their marriage, and at the separation she was never allowed an accounting.

Certificates of Election.

Registrar Walsh has issued certificates of elec-tion to a number of those elected at the last elec-tion, and all those entilled to certificates who have not as yet received them, can do so upon application at the Registrar's office.

M. H. De Young Improving. At a late hour last night Mr. De Young was sleeping quietly without the aid of opiates, and can be said to be improving rapidly, his condi-tion being entirely satisfactory to the attending physicians.

League, is in custody on a charge of embezzlement preferred by Patrick Gallagher, another crispin, who alleges Goetz and J. Dabner, the Treasurer, failed to turn into the treasury $160 of the receipts of the League's recent picnic. Dabner has left the city.

Second Regiment Band in the Park Thanksgiv-ing Day. Grand battle piece, with musketry and artillery.

James Coakley, Henry Dawson and Gus Brown, charged with the murder of Florence Sullivan on the evening of the 4th inst., were arraigned before Judge Toohy yesterday morning, and all pleaded not guilty. By consent, Tuesday next was fixed as the day of trial.

A Murderer's Sentence.

A Murderer's Sentence. W, H. Mead, Sheriff of Sierra county, lodged H. C. Kelsey in the City Prison last night en route to San Quentin to serve a life sentence for the mur-der of Al. Smith, a Sierra City saloon-keeper, some six months since. Kelsey endeavored to borrow some money of Smith, and when the latter refused to concede the loan he slapped his face. Smith drew a revolver, and so did Kelsey, and in the exchange of shots that followed Smith was killed and Kelsey wounded in four places. On convicting him of murder in the first degree the jury fixed the penalty at life imprisonment.

Mrs. Stoneman's Dog.

Mrs. Stoneman's Dog. The magnificent Newfoundland dog left on Vallejo-street wharf by the unknown man who fell or jumped overboard three weeks ago, has been turned over to Mrs. Governor Stoneman, by Chief Crowley, at her special request, with the under-standing that if heirs put in an appearance the an-imal is to be surrendered on demand.

Promising Prince. Prince George, son of the Prince of Wales, was a popular and smart middy on board both the Bacchanie and Canada, and he is now proving himself an apt student at the Royal Naval College, where he enjoys no special privileges over other sub-Lieutenants, and by his frank, genial ways is quite a favorite. He took a first-class certificate for seamaship, and is rapidly qualifying himself for appointment to one of the vessels of the Medi-terranean fleet.
