AGE PUTS NO DAMPER ON THE LOVES OF WHITE HAIRS

PRINCIPALS IN THE HODGE-NICHOLL SUIT.

OKLAND, September 12.—When John Nicholl made Miss Jane Hodde a lady in the name of the present time, she was forty years of age. She was a widow, and her husband had died some years before. She had a young daughter, and she was a devoted mother. She had a young daughter, and she was a devoted mother. She had a young daughter, and she was a devoted mother.

These days were brought on today for the first time in the history of the world. The world was a different place then. The world was a different place then. The world was a different place then.

On the other hand, it is a fact that the world is a different place now. The world is a different place now. The world is a different place now.

The following statement is given by the committee on the subject of the case. The committee on the subject of the case. The committee on the subject of the case.
