No Wire Tapping or Buying of Liquor by Agents; States Must Deal With Speakeasies

WASHINGTON, March 8.—(AP)—Henceforth the Federal government will concentrate "almost entirely" on liquor manufacturers and transporters to enforce prohibition, leaving speakeasy prosecutions to the States.

As announced today by Amos W. Woodcock, enforcement director, the new plan puts into immediate effect the restrictions laid down by Congress to apply after July 1. This means no more wiretapping or purchase of liquor as evidence for consumption by agents.

Woodcock placed the decision on the grounds of economy, necessitated by the huge cuts in enforcement funds made by the last Congress. The orders were dated March 3, the day before the Roosevelt administration took office.

How the new statute will affect States having no local enforcement agents remains to be seen. Woodcock said complaints against speakeasies hereafter would be referred to local authorities, in the main, and predicted more attacks on the sources of supply as a result.

Woodcock, who is continuing in office at the request of the new administration until a successor is appointed, said the regulations were sent out as soon as the new statute under the appropriation bill was determined.

Seaver Expects Prohibitions to Drop Here

The number of arrests by Federal prohibition agents here will probably decrease materially in the future, following yesterday's orders from Amos W. Woodcock, prohibition enforcement head.

That was the opinion of Colonel George Seaver, chief enforcement agent for this district, when he learned that the new orders forbid the purchase of liquor by agents for consumption as evidence.

"We will obey the new orders in spirit and in letter," said Colonel Seaver. "Naturally we won't use wire-tapping—we never have in this office."

He declared that his staff would concentrate "almost entirely" on the liquor manufacturers and transporters.

"But since the State has no local enforcement, we'll continue to go after the speakeasies, too. We make most of our raids under the Internal Revenue Act, which makes it illegal to sell or possess untaxed liquor. Under that act, no search warrants are necessary."

Snowbound Town Learns of Holiday

DINKEY CREEK, March 8.—(AP)—After being snowbound for more than two months, the populace of Dinkey Creek peeked out upon civilization today, learned about the bank holiday and such, presented its compliments to the rest of the world and announced it might just as well have remained isolated.

Located 6,000 feet above sea level in the Sierra National Forest, Dinkey Creek is only a half-day's drive to Los Angeles or San Francisco, but boasts of a frontier status.

Dinkey Creek has plenty of food and fuel and doesn't want to cash any checks, thank you.

Deposition by Egan Authorized in Suit

Presiding Superior Judge Graham yesterday granted Attorney Irving Phillip Barnett an order to take a deposition from former Public Defender Frank J. Egan in the Kettleman Lake case, involving $10,000 life insurance. The deposition will be taken tomorrow afternoon in the office of Warden Holohan at San Quentin Prison.

CHICAGO, March 8.—(AP)—The body of Mayor Anton J. Cermak lay in the darkened parlor of his home today and Chicagoans went about their affairs at a slower tempo after recording an impressive tribute to the man who rose from immigrant to Mayor.

But one floral piece adorned the casket—a spray of lilies sent by President and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt. The President, for whom the bullet that brought death to Chicago's chief executive was intended, was represented by a military aide, Lieut. Col. Campbell B. Hodges.

Tomorrow the same group of civic leaders and officers which accompanied the body today will escort it to the City Hall. There, in a casket and mounted upon a catafalque, it will lie in state until Friday morning, when funeral services will be conducted at the Chicago Stadium.

Congress Organizes To Expedite Program

Senate Democrats Name Chairmen; House Selects Ways and Means Group

WASHINGTON, March 8.—Congress put itself in readiness tonight to rush through President Roosevelt's emergency banking program. Senate Democrats picked committee chairmen, while House Democrats, in secret caucus, elected four members to the Ways and Means Committee. Democratic Ways and Means Committee members will designate Democratic members of all other committees.

While pledging full co-operation, Senate Republicans appointed a legislative committee to report on the President's proposals. This may cause a slight delay, but Democratic spokesmen were hopeful the emergency program would be completed by Saturday.

MEETS AT NOON

Congress will convene at noon tomorrow to receive the President's message. It will be read at once in the Senate, which is already organized. There will be a delay of about two hours in the House while the lower chamber elects Representatives Rainey of Illinois as Speaker, installs other officers and completes its organization.

With the emergency program out of the way Congress will recess for a few weeks while the President prepares his recommendations on economic and farm relief, easement of the mortgage burden, a beer bill and so forth.

Rainey predicted Congress, after the recess, would sit well into the summer.

COMMITTEES LIMITED

Tomorrow the House Republican Committee on Committees will designate the members of the Ways and Means, Banking and Currency, Rules and Accounts Committees, the only committees to be organized at the beginning of the extraordinary session.

The four Democrats elected in caucus to the Ways and Means Committee were Representatives Challenberger of Nebraska, West of Ohio, Boehne of Indiana and McClintic of Oklahoma.

The Senate committee chairmanships were selected on a seniority basis. Senator Fletcher of Florida will head the Banking and Currency Committee, which will handle much of the legislation dealing with the existing financial situation.
