Newspapers by ancestry
https://www.newspapers.com/image/80931094

Downloaded on Dec 2, 2021

76 THE SAN FRANCISCO CALL, FRIDAY, APRIL 6, 1906.

SHOWS STAMPS TO ENTHUSIASTS

Henry J. Crocker Exhibits Rare Hawaiian Collection Before Sending to London

ONE IS WORTH $4000

Two-Cent "Missionary" With Date of 1851 Has Only One Counterpart in the World

About thirty of the best known stamp collectors of San Francisco gathered at the residence of Henry J. Crocker on Wednesday evening to view his collection of Hawaiian stamps, which ranks as the finest in the world in point of rarity and value. The collection is now on exhibition in the third International Philatelic Exhibition, to be held in the Royal Horticultural Society's Hall, London, England, beginning May 23. It is safe to say that it will bring to its owner on returning the first gold or silver medal. The exhibition has already won first medals in several philatelic displays in America and Europe, and the display at the Imperial palace of the London exhibition, which will be supported by the philatelic societies of the world. Mr. Crocker is a member of the committees, in company with many collectors of world-wide note.

COLLECTION WORTH $42,000.

This display of Hawaiian stamps, which is a part of Mr. Crocker's collection of Hawaiian stamps, is valued at $42,000, and is the noteworthy collection of the universe, is catalogued at $42,000, and when consigned to the care of the express company for its long voyage will carry an insurance of $50,000. The gem among the Hawaiian copies, and over which every guest lingered almost lovingly, is the early 2-cent missionary stamp of 1851, which occupies a place of honor in a glass in the initial page of the first book of the exhibit. Of this particular stamp, which sold at auction for $750, and which Mr. Crocker sought to purchase for two or three years before finally securing it, only two copies are known, the other appearing in the collection of the British Museum. It is now valued at about $600, and, apart from the unique 5-cent British Guiana of 1856, which exists only in the collection of Ferrari of Paris, is probably the rarest stamp in the world. It is also interesting from the fact that the day after it was issued the Hawaiian postoffice issued the 2-cent stamp of the present type, and has the honor of being the only one of the sort in the United States. It is the 1-cent Hawaiian, which is valuable among the error stamps in that it is without the "1 cent" at the bottom. The only other known stamp like this is in Hawaii.

EARLY MISSIONARY STAMPS.

There is also in the Crocker collection a set of the early missionary stamps, of the Hawaii Government, worth over $50 each. Among other rarities are a strip of three 5-cent ultramarines, imperforated horizontally, worth $90; a 2-cent black numeral into beche and a 4-cent green of 1851, imperforated in pair.

Other stamps dear to the heart of the collector are ten of the early 5 and 13 cent issues, a strip of three 13 cent ultramarines, being unique, and especially interesting in sequence and arrangement are eleven complete plates of the Hawaiian numerals, now exceedingly rare. A number of the missionary stamps appear on the original letters on which they were affixed, and are worth from $100 to $500 each. There are some fine ones among the surcharged issues. Mr. Crocker is the recognized authority on the stamps of the Hawaiian Islands, having written several important articles on the plating of the numerals. Altogether the collection is one that will give the collectors of the world a rare treat when on at the London exhibition.

Police Scent Idea of Foul Play.

The autopsy made by Dr. Knecht at the Morgue yesterday on the body of Charlemagne P. Jones, journalist and socialistic lecturer, which was found among the rocks at section 1 of Ocean road on Wednesday afternoon, showed that he had died from drowning. The cuts and bruises on the face were caused by the body being washed by the tide against the rocks. Detective Silvey, who was detailed on the case, is satisfied that Jones either fell accidentally into the bay or jumped in. The police have communicated with Jones' deceased daughter, Florence M. Jones, and will be informed today.

This Week's News Letter.

In this week's News Letter there is a discussion of the new Grand Jury by "one who knows"; the illegality of the proposed local curfew is shown; a letter-day Sketch is entitled "Sunday Morning in Chinatown"; the Editor writes about the Town Crier and his often shaky efforts at timely comment. The Editor also has a few words to say about the woman who has declared war on seaside mosquito; of the outing of District Attorney Langdon and his assistants; of the "Sunday Dinner" of the aspirants to "society fame"; of a fraternity artist officer; an anecdote of a fight and other matters. The News Letter is on the news stands this morning, or may be had by mail after imposing on business men, women and friends.

JUDGE MELVIN LECTURES—Oakland, April 5.—Superior Judge Henry A. Melvin today, a course of six lectures this evening on "Medical Jurisprudence" before the College of Medicine and Surgery.

Patrolmen Skelly was among the passengers on a Kearny-street "owl" car who Miss Beaks Agnews got aboard, and, fearlessly slapping his breast pocket with one of her daintily gloved hands, exclaimed, "Hello, pretty girl" thereby conveying embarrassment to him and amusement to the spectators, of whom there were many.

Miss Agnew turned her forwardness, as she was not unaware his feminine sensibilities, whereupon she declared that he "acted so much at home." Even though he was a policeman and possessed rare physical graces. At this sally the spectators again laughed, and several of them confidentially informed each other that Miss Agnew was "some girl, all right." Encouraged by the comment, she indulged in further repartee at the behest of Mr. Skelly's expense, until he arrested her for peace disturbance, and then the spectators unanimously opined that it was too bad.

Miss Agnew was arraigned before Judge Conlan the following morning, assumed a demure and pleading attitude, and by curving a flutter to her voice, pleaded guilty.

"What for?" the Judge inquired.

"Because I do," was the truly feminine explanation.

"Do you hope to convince a jury that you acted properly in slapping the back of a policeman who did not know you?" the Judge inquired.

"Never you mind. I'll prove what I prove," was the reply.

Her request is under judicial consideration.

* * *

"Yvonne" Stallman, professional featherweight pugilist, who won the heroin-lean task of overpowering two stalwart patrolmen Nominee and Kelly, when they arrested him for peace disturbance on Fourth street, and he not only failed to overpower them, but received the most severe drubbing ever administered to him, by Miss Grace Graham, and in court were half a dozen housewives, resident on the 400 block of Twenty-third street, where the principals live, and for whose benefit Miss Grace Graham, slender and quiet-mannered, averred that her home had been bombarded by Mrs Jagoe, burns and quick-tempered, who accused her of having mailed several thousand postal cards which were "derogatory." Miss Graham's denial of the accusation was the cause of the breach-of-peace disturbance by Miss Jagoe.

"I'm sure she sent 'em," Miss Jagoe declared in court, "because when I went to her house and knocked on the door till I was tired nobody came to open it. I had one of the cards in my hand, and I know she was home, for she was there for. Finally she raised the window and her mother raised another and both of them called me awful names."

A sharp breath-intake, a prolonged "O-o-h-h!" and an interchange of glances between the housewives present were the Grahge contingent's comment on Miss Jagoe's testimony.

"Yet a disinterested witness, Mrs. Long, has sworn that you uttered some very bad language while you were talking to the complainant," the Honor remarked, addressing Miss Jagoe.

"Mrs. Long knows I didn't say an impolite word," was the warm response, "and if I'd known she was coming here to swear I'd have told her husband."

"I have you to understand that my husband knows I'm here," exclaimed Miss Jagoe, "and if you don't let me go you know you said things to Miss Graham that no lady would say. I heard you say so and I saw you flourish a postal card."

When the judge pronounced Miss Jagoe guilty as accused she darkly hinted that Miss Graham's mother, mother in hand, and otherwise exhibited such spleen that her detention in custody was ordered. After the court adjourned she was liberated and instructed to appear this morning for sentence.

Three of the anonymous illustrated postal cards which Miss Jagoe received were introduced for the court's inspection. One of them depicted a typical tramp eating longingly at a stout matron attaching newly-laundered lingerie to a clothesline, and his thought was expressed in a balloon issuing from his mouth, inquiring for some one to support him," to which the sender of the card had added the penciled words, "and get my meals at Sanguinetti's, where the girls forget their prettiness." Another card bore a portrait of His Satanic Majesty, grasping a pitchfork and exclaiming "I am hiring a devil." Card No. 3 was a duplicate of the first described, minus the allusion to Sanguinetti's. It was this allusion that especially aroused Miss Jagoe's ire.

TWO GRACES VENTILATE ANTAGONISM IN COURT

Illustrated Postal Cards Figure in Quarrel.

One Lady Displays Wrath and Gets Reprimand.

She Regrets Having Been Merciful to Enemy.

BY JAMES C. CRAWFORD.

"I'm sorry now that I didn't give her a good beating!" shouted Miss Grace Jagoe, after Police Judge Mogan had ordered that she be detained in custody until her anger subsided. His Honor apparently did not hear the fair plaintiff's remark, otherwise he would also her detention might have entitled the separation of the wrath.

She was accused of peace disturbance

by Miss Grace Graham, and in court were half a dozen housewives, resident on the 400 block of Twenty-third street, where the principals live, and for whose benefit Miss Grace Graham, slender and quiet-mannered, averred that her home had been bombarded by Miss Jagoe, burns and quick-tempered, who accused her of having mailed several thousand postal cards which were "derogatory." Miss Graham's denial of the accusation was the cause of the breach-of-peace disturbance by Miss Jagoe.

"I'm sure she sent 'em," Miss Jagoe declared in court, "because when I went to her house and knocked on the door till I was tired nobody came to open it. I had one of the cards in my hand, and I know she was home, for she was there for. Finally she raised the window and her mother raised another and both of them called me awful names."

A sharp breath-intake, a prolonged "O-o-h-h!" and an interchange of glances between the housewives present were the Grahge contingent's comment on Miss Jagoe's testimony.

"Yet a disinterested witness, Mrs. Long, has sworn that you uttered some very bad language while you were talking to the complainant," his Honor remarked, addressing Miss Jagoe.

"Mrs. Long knows I didn't say an impolite word," was the warm response, "and if I'd known she was coming here to swear I'd have told her husband."

"I have you to understand that my husband knows I'm here," exclaimed Miss Jagoe, "and if you don't let me go you know you said things to Miss Graham that no lady would say. I heard you say so and I saw you flourish a postal card."

When the judge pronounced Miss Jagoe guilty as accused she darkly hinted that Miss Graham's mother, mother in hand, and otherwise exhibited such spleen that her detention in custody was ordered. After the court adjourned she was liberated and instructed to appear this morning for sentence.

Three of the anonymous illustrated postal cards which Miss Jagoe received were introduced for the court's inspection. One of them depicted a typical tramp eating longingly at a stout matron attaching newly-laundered lingerie to a clothesline, and his thought was expressed in a balloon issuing from his mouth, inquiring for some one to support him," to which the sender of the card had added the penciled words, "and get my meals at Sanguinetti's, where the girls forget their prettiness." Another card bore a portrait of His Satanic Majesty, grasping a pitchfork and exclaiming "I am hiring a devil." Card No. 3 was a duplicate of the first described, minus the allusion to Sanguinetti's. It was this allusion that especially aroused Miss Jagoe's ire.

DIAMONDS MAY BE SMUGGLED

Treasury Agent West Said to Be on the Track of Clever Band of Operators

TRICK IN MID-OCEAN

Not Only Precious Stones but Costly Laces Believed to Come From Honolulu

An uneasy feeling exists among the customs authorities that considerable smuggling of valuable laces and cut diamonds may be going on, owing to a trick which has been worked by which permission granted passengers for the Orient to have access to their baggage in bond between San Francisco and Honolulu. Dutiable baggage arriving from Europe or Asia bound for the United States on the way with the permission granted to the Orient is usually sent across the continent in bond and under seal to the port of destination, where it is put on board the steamer still tied and sealed. Owing to the fact that passengers, after leaving San Francisco desire to change their clothing on board ship, the Secretary of the Treasury has granted permission to such passengers to open their baggage in bond, they add to break the seals thereof. Of course neither they nor their baggage have been allowed to be landed at Honolulu, and it was therefore thought that the favor granted would not be likely to be abused.

It is said that Special Agent Customs Collector Stratton and United States Treasury Agents West, Channing and Vernon have been investigating the matter for some time and have secured evidence leading to show that it is possible to defraud the Government out of large sums of money by abusing the privilege. Thus a smuggler with two trunks may land in Honolulu one in which the duty is 60 per cent of their value, and cut diamonds inset, on which the duty is 10 per cent, may arrive at New York, have his trunks sealed and handed for the Orient, and then, when he is given access to them on board ship, remove the cut diamonds, may take out the valuable contents and put them into the trunks of a confederate passenger from San Francisco and thus land them there. Even if the confederate should be searched the contraband would not likely be found.

It is said that Special Agent Customs Collector Stratton and United States Treasury Agents West, Channing and Vernon have been investigating the matter for some time and have secured evidence leading to show that it is possible to defraud the Government out of large sums of money by abusing the privilege. Thus a smuggler with two trunks may land in Honolulu one in which the duty is 60 per cent of their value, and cut diamonds inset, on which the duty is 10 per cent, may arrive at New York, have his trunks sealed and handed for the Orient, and then, when he is given access to them on board ship, remove the cut diamonds, may take out the valuable contents and put them into the trunks of a confederate passenger from San Francisco and thus land them there. Even if the confederate should be searched the contraband would not likely be found.

Special Agent West has left this city without making any statement as to his movements, but it is said that he has gone to Honolulu to meet the steamer returning from the Orient.

United States Treasury Agent Caleb W. West has been absent from the city for several days on a mysterious errand and United States Treasury Agent Vernon, when asked about the matter refused to talk.

SAYS THAT HE CANNOT EXPLAIN WHY HE MARRIED

William Evans Is Divorced by Woman Who Produces Message to Show His Penitence.

Presiding Judge Graham yesterday granted a divorce to Mrs. Mary Evans, the decree being issued on the ground of desertion. Evidence was produced by the complaining wife to show that William Evans had left her without provocation. It was in the form of a letter which the recalcitrant William sent to his wife's counsel. The message read as follows:

"I have received your complaint and summons and I want to say that I never left her. She is not my kind, and I don't know why I ever married her."

North Dakota was the scene of the unhappy marriage, which was contracted four years ago. In addition to the charge of desertion Mrs. Evans asserted that her husband failed to provide the necessaries of life, compelling her to subsist on the bounty of her family.

Decrees of divorce were also granted yesterday to Della from William H. O'Neil for cruelty, Helen from Emil Schulz for desertion, Isabel from Jasper McKenzie for desertion, Annie from Frank Lee for desertion, Mabel from Florence D. from George W. Speer for desertion and Eliza L. from Jeremiah Casey for desertion.

Suits for divorce were filed by Frances A. against Harry D. Burr for cruelty, Curtis against Robert L. Bourke for desertion, Ida M. against Charles A. Varney for desertion, Laura against E. F. Collins for cruelty, Franklin P. against California A. Gray for infidelity, Raymond against Maud for desertion and Blanche W. against William L. Mallahar for neglect, and George against Agnes Gleason for desertion.

WANT IMPRISONMENT FOR NATURALIZATION FRAUD

Judge de Haven Gives Frank Johnson the Full Penalty for Perjury.

Ten years' imprisonment in the penitentiary and a fine of $400, the extreme penalty prescribed by the statute, was the sentence imposed by United States District Judge de Haven yesterday on Frank Johnson, alias Jansen, upon a plea of guilty to two counts of perjury committed while he was a witness in naturalization cases. Johnson figured as a witness in eighty-eight cases which have been under investigation by United States Secret Service Agent Richard H. Taylor, the greater part of which cases were fraudulent.

The sentence imposed by Judge de Haven was the subject of favorable comment in the Federal building yesterday.

Loses His Motor Cycle.

C. B. Mendelson, 762 Geary street, reported to the police yesterday that he had left his motor cycle, valued at $225, on Mason street between Post & Ocleck on Wednesday night at the Pioneer Garage, Golden Gate avenue and Octavia street, while he went upstairs. When he returned, about two and a half hours later, it had disappeared.

Steal a Horse and Buggy.

Daniel Leahy, salesman for Charles Mattison & Co., 1430 Market street, reported to the police yesterday that his horse and buggy had been stolen from in front of a store at Thirteenth and Valencia streets on Wednesday morning. The buggy was a large red one, filled with boxes of cigars valued at $15.

Mexico City and Grand Canyon

Via a long way apart, but special train service April 10 will take you to both. Very low rate. Reserve berth quickly. 613 Market street.

Sent to Reform School.

Harry Myers, 13 years of age, who pleaded guilty to a charge of attempt to commit burglary, was sent to the Preston School of Industry at Ione by Judge Dunne yesterday till he reaches the age of 21. On December 10 he entered the room of William Kalmeles, 184 Fourth street.

A remedy specially designed for the treatment of all kidney, liver, stomach and bowel troubles is Lash's Bitters.

OFFICER FIRES AT A FUGITIVE

Policeman McDonald Pursues a Mysterious Man With a Dress Suit Case

INVADES CHICKEN COOP

Suspected Lawbreaker Makes His Escape Through an Exit Used by the Fowls

The residents in the neighborhood of Clay and Steiner streets were aroused at an early hour yesterday morning by pistol shots and stentorian cries of "Stop him!" Policeman McDonald, who was on his beat and saw a dark man in dress suit case near the corner of Filmore and Washington streets. As he walked up to the fellow the stranger walked away. The policeman ordered him to halt and the man broke into a run.

Still clinging to the dress suit case, the man sped up Jackson street and down Steiner street, with the officer hot on his heels. The fugitive escaped Mc-Donald's quarry gained upon the at every step. As the policeman had nearly taken a medal for the hundred-yard dash he decided that the only way to capture the man would be to resort to his pocket ordnance.

He drew his revolver and fired twice, but the fugitive kept on his way. Reaching a chicken house, the fugitive, still in his back entrance, though it is unlikely that by chickens only, and was just in a maze of back yards. Policeman McDonald, being no spring chicken, was unable to follow.

Great excitement ensued in the chicken house. The affair is still under police surveillance. No burglaries have been reported in the neighborhood, and it is still an open question what the man carried in the suit case and why he ran.

LOTTERY MONEY'S LIABILITY TO OFFICIAL CONFISCATION

Judge Morrow Is Asked to Decide a Very Interesting Point as to Lawyers' Fees.

Bert M. Schlesinger and Marshall B. Woodworth yesterday argued before United States Circuit Judge Morrow the case of Harry K. Wolff vs. United States Secret Service Agent Harry M. McNiff to recover $3150.61, the property of Wolff. This sum was represented by money orders, drafts and currency seized by McNiff in the possession of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s express, to be used by Moffitt as evidence against Henry Morris, M. M. Morris and A. C. Kershl, whom it had arrested for violating the interstate commerce act by shipping lottery tickets from one State to another.

The Government's theory is that the United States District Court and pass fines of $410. The money orders, checks, drafts and currency were assigned by defendants to Schlesinger and Woodworth in payment of their fees for legal services, and they in turn assigned to Wolff. The matter was taken under advisement.

The World's Beauties.

San Francisco has the distinction of having within its boundaries the most beautiful store in the world. It is simply beyond description. Its walls are lined with the most exquisite fabrics, beautiful paintings and lasting gems. The pleasure of a visit will linger with you always. Col. A. Andrews, Diamond Palace, 21 Montgomery st. *

Need Not Support Mother.

The Supreme Court decided yesterday that Sarah J. Yordi could not be compelled to support her aged, natural mother Mrs. Leonora Duffy, the motion, brought suit against her daughter to have the latter ordered to pay her $25 per month. The Court gave her judgment for $142.39 and directed the daughter to contribute $20 a month. The Supreme Court finds that two other children contribute for the support of Mrs. Duffy and that she sent Mrs. Yordi only $5 per month, and that the latter has only two more ages. It is held, therefore, that Mrs. Yordi need pay nothing toward the support of the plaintiff.

ADVERTISEMENTS.

SUFFERED AGONIES FOR FOUR YEARS

Whole Foot Nothing But Proud Flesh —Tried Different Physicians and All Kinds of Ointments—Could Walk Only With Crutches—Ohio Man Says:

"CUTICURA REMEDIES THE BEST ON EARTH"

"In the year 1899 the side of my right foot was sore. The first one to take notice of it was my wife, and she told me to see a doctor. I did so, but with no success. The sore began to spread, until at last my whole foot was affected. The bone of my ankle was also affected. I tried one doctor after another, until I had tried four years, and tried different physicians of all kinds of treatments. I could walk only with crutches. My sister-in-law induced me to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment for my limb and foot. After I had used them months the Cuticura Remedies did not seem to work. But I went on using them both. In two weeks afterwards I saw a change in my foot. It began to heal. Cuticura Soap and Ointment often during the day and night. After three months, when my limb was healed up just the same as if it never had trouble.

"It is eight months now since I stopped using Cuticura Remedies, the best on God's earth. I am working at the present day, after five years of suffering. The cost of Cuticura Ointment and Soap was only $6; but the doctors' bills were more like $600. You can publish my name and color any one to write to me about Cuticura Remedies." (Signed) Peter Jessing (postage is enclosed), Route 2, Lloyd, 718 S. Arch Ave., Alliance, Ohio, June 27, 1905.

Cuticura Ointment and Internal Treatment for every form of skin, scalp, and blood disease, from pimples to scrofula, from infancy to age, when the best physicians, everywhere, fail. Complete external and internal treatment for every humor, from the purest of the blood, with loss of hair, when all else fails. Cuticura Soap (25c.), Ointment (50c.), Pills (25c. per vial), are sold throughout the world. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston. "How to Cure Skin Diseases, Blood Humors," 64 pages, illustrated, and 100 testimonials, free.

Golden Gate CLOAK AND SUIT HOUSE

Great Remodeling Sale

Reductions at the Height of the Season—An Opportunity Seldom Offered. TRUTHFUL REDUCTIONS of 10 per cent to 25 per cent on the newest style Spring Garments; broken lines will be sold for end of season prices.

Tailor Suits

$17.50 ETON SUITS on sale at..... $12.50
$20.00 ETON SUITS on sale at..... $15.00
$25.00 ETON SUITS on sale at..... $20.00
$32.50 ETON SUITS on sale at..... $25.00
SILK SHIRT WAIST SUITS on sale at..... $7.50, $8.50, $10
$25.00 FANCY MOHAIR SUITS on sale at..... $20
$35.00 Extra Heavy TAFFETA SILK NOVELTY SUITS on sale at..... $25
See Our BLACK SUITS—Panama or Cheviot and Broadcloth.....
$15.00, $20, $25

New Style Skirts

PRINCESS, CIRCULAR and NEW BOX PLEATED
Less 15 Per Cent

Plaid Box Coats

$12.50 QUALITY AT $ 8.50
$15.00 QUALITY AT $10.00

Cloth and Silk Eton
Less 15 Per Cent

Novelty Covert Coats
¾ and Full Length at
$10, $12.50, $15.00

All Walking Skirts
Less 25 Per Cent

See Our Skirts at
$1.50, $2.00, $2.50

1230-1232-1234 MARKET STREET

The only form of food made from wheat that is all nutriment is the soda cracker, and yet—the only soda cracker of which this is really true is

Uneeda Biscuit

The only soda cracker scientifically baked.
The only soda cracker effectually protected.
The only soda cracker ever fresh, crisp and clean.
The only soda cracker good at all times.

5¢ In a dust tight, moisture proof package.

NATIONAL BISCUIT COMPANY

BRIEF CITY NEWS.

WANTS APPROPRIATION—The St. Mary's Hospital Association has petitioned the Supervisors to appropriate $25,000 to complete the acquisition of lands for St. Mary's asylum.

CONFERENCE POSTPONED—The conference between the Mayor and Supervisors relative to the Mayor's veto of the ordinance granting to a telephone company, but will be held this week.

CHARGES AMENDED—The complaint against Chief Dinan has been amended so as to charge the defendant with conduct unbecoming an officer and gentleman, and with violation of the rules and regulations of the Police Department.

FREE ART INSTITUTE DAY—The Mark Hopkins Institute of Art will be open to the public today free of charge from 9 A. M. till 5 P. M. in honor of the opening of the Fifth Annual Exhibition of Work by Students. The exhibition is open within the Mary Frances Deane gallery.

WANTS STREETS SPRINKLED—A petition has been presented to the Board of Supervisors by the Merchants' Association, asking the Board of Works to urge the sprinkling of the streets in the business district. It is presented in the name of the merchants and others in close to carry out the request.

TO CONSUMPTIVE PROBABLE—There is a possibility that the custom over the saloon of the Young Women's Christian Temperance Union, at 1177 Market street, the young men from the Free Baptist Church will commence a series of lectures will be rendered. The admission is 10 cents.

SUES FOR $1000 FOR SUED.—F. H. Hobson, as assignee of a work of claimants, filed suit yesterday against the Fidelity Funding Company to recover $1000 alleged to be owing from the Fill to Bill, which the claimant paid the defendant corporation on contract for the construction of a building, which the contractor was dispossessed of legitimate performance.

TO CONSUMPTIVE PROBABLE—There is a possibility that the custom over the saloon of the Young Women's Christian Temperance Union, at 1177 Market street, the young men from the Free Baptist Church will commence a series of lectures will be rendered. The admission is 10 cents.

SUES FOR $1000 FOR SUED.—F. H. Hobson, as assignee of a work of claimants, filed suit yesterday against the Fidelity Funding Company to recover $1000 alleged to be owing from the Fill to Bill, which the claimant paid the defendant corporation on contract for the construction of a building, which the contractor was dispossessed of legitimate performance.

Work Under Road Issue.

City Engineer Woodward yesterday filed a tabulated statement showing that sewers to cost $584,462.26 under the bond issue have been completed or are under way and plans are being prepared for sewers to cost $1,244,435. Bonds to the amount of only $724,000 have been sold. Furthermore, nothing $426,987 are under way or contracted for, leaving a balance of $92,987 authorized for payments to cost $178,256. Street bonds to the amount of $647,000 have been sold.

POND'S EXTRACT THE OLD FAMILY DOCTOR

Sores

"I washed and kept moist with Pond's Extract will heal quickly. Running sores should be cleansed daily with hot water and bandaged with a cotton pad moistened with Pond's Extract. It kills the germ which exists in every sore, and tends to purify the adjacent tissues. Pond's Extract draws from the blood all dead matter and reduces inflammation. No unhealthy condition can exist where Pond's Extract is used freely.

"Witch Hazel is not the same thing On analysis of seventy samples of Witch Hazel—offered as "the same thing"—fifty-two were shown to contain more alcohol or formaldehyde or both. Avoid danger of poisoning by using

THE OLD FAMILY DOCTOR POND'S EXTRACT

ONE OF OUR SAMPLES ONLY $5.00

For tuition prices on Trunks, Bags and Suit Cases you must go to the manufacturer, and so avoid paying the high commissions to dealers. The J. Marty Trunk Manufactory has been at the same location for 25 years and at prices 50 per cent less than elsewhere.

J. MARTY TRUNK MANUFACTURER
22 Turk Street Phone East 9224

THE LOS ANGELES TIMES
SAN FRANCISCO OFFICE
ROOM 41, CHRONICLE BLDG.
Telephone Main 1474.
Arthur L. Fish, Representative
The Times is the advertising medium of the Southwest.

JAPANESE PORTER CLEANING
DO NOT BE PETTISHLY ARRESTED

Ismul P. Wakuya Accused of Systematically Stealing Articles From Patrons' Dress Boxes.

Ismul P. Wakuya, a Japanese who is employed as porter at the Hotel Stewart, was arrested yesterday by Detective George Graham. Wakuya had been employed by E. W. Joy's drug store at Kearny and California streets as a porter for about two months, and had commenced at once to steal drugs and instruments from the store, which the proprietor supposed of starting a store on his own account.

Wakuya's employer became suspicious of him and notified the police. When Graham arrested him he found in the boy in his room at 411 Stockton street in his pockets. Graham went to the room and found a miscellaneous collection of articles, which, together with his trunk, the total value of which is estimated at $75. The officer took possession of these and had them sent to the property clerk's office at the Hall of Justice. It is believed that the Japanese has stolen other articles, and in order to find out the owners the trunk will be kept there with them. In the room of his lady love at 515 Stockton street Graham found four jars of facial cream which Wakuya had presented to her.

HOTEL ST. FRANCIS
Sunday Evening Music Hour
Will be served in the wide and cool parlors every Sunday Evening at 8:30 o'clock.
$2.50 per plate. Maher's Orchestra. Reservations may be made with the Maître d'Hotel.

RAZORS HONED AND REPAIRED 25 Cts Each
That Man Pitts
1906 Market St. San Francisco.

TO LEASE
Long term; also lease to Improvements built to suit tenant. Apply Room 701, Call Building.

Copyright © 2021 Newspapers.com. All Rights Reserved.

Powered by Newspapers.com