

4 INJURED AS FIRE TRUCK OVERTURNS

Patrol Rushing to Blaze Strikes Bootblack Stand in Effort to Avoid Collision With Auto

Four members of Underwriters' Fire Patrol No. 1 were seriously injured last night, when to avoid a collision with a fire chief's automobile rushing to a fire, the patrol was overturned and the men pinned under it at Fourth and Mission streets. The patrol crashed into a bootblack stand there.

THE INJURED.

Washington, Gus; left knee punctured, nose fractured and torn, scalp cut.
Dailey, Peter; right knee crushed, finger broken.
Gaine, Herbert; nose and legs badly lacerated.

The accident occurred when the patrol, running west on Mission street to a three-alarm fire call at the Glidden Company's paint plant, Hooper and Seventh streets, encountered Second Assistant Chief Engineer Charles Murray driving south on Fourth street. A collision was imminent and Foese turned sharply to avert it. His truck upset as it struck the bootblack stand. RUSHED TO HOSPITAL.

Rescuers were at work instantly. Chief Murray took two of the injured men to the Emergency hospital and an ambulance carried the others.

Surgeons said that Foese was most seriously injured. The fire, which broke out in a warehouse of the Glidden Company's plant, was a stubborn one, for the storehouse was filled with resin, paints, oils, alcohol and other inflammable material. The flames were fought with dirt in an effort to smother the blazing fluid, which was not responsive to water.

OTHERS IN DANGER.

Firemen under Fire Chief Thomas Murphy's direction held the fire in the warehouse where it started. The entire plant was endangered. It was only the most strenuous effort of a large contingent of the fire department that saved the rest of the big plant factory and the adjacent lumber mills of the Pacific Glass Works and Standard Oil Company's plant, which were all threatened.

After three hours of fighting, with a heavy flood of water on surrounding buildings, the fire was prevented from spreading and was under complete control at the point it started. The loss was estimated at about $25,000. The cause of the fire was said to have been spontaneous combustion of the materials in the warehouse.

Chamber Hospitality Hike on Sunday

The second "hospitality hike" of the Chamber of Commerce will be held Sunday, June 4. The destination will be the home of the late Joaquin Miller, poet, in the Oakland hills.

The party will leave on the 8:40 a. m. ferry boat. C. S. Bostford, director of physical instruction, Stanford University, will be leader. He will be assisted by students of Stanford and the University of California. The "hospitality hikes" were originated to acquaint San Franciscans with the surrounding country.

Auto Carrying 3 Girls Demolished Trio Injured When Train Hits Car

Berkeley Students Near Death While Taking Spin During Lunch Hour.

Mildred Bell, Berkeley High School student, one of three girls hurt when train hit auto.

Three Berkeley high school girls had a narrow escape from death yesterday when an automobile in which they were riding was demolished by a Santa Fe train at Dwight way and West st., Berkeley. The injured:

Mildred Bell, 17, of 2815 Benvenue av., Berkeley; cuts and bruises.
Laverne Callmen, 16, 2670 Oak Grove av., Oakland; cuts and bruises and possible internal injuries.

Eleanor Barr, 15, 2553 Benvenue av., Berkeley; severe cuts and bruises of the face and body.
The girls cannot account for the accident. Miss Bell, who was driving, told the police the first she knew she was tangled in a mass of wreckage. Her two companions were nearby.

The accident occurred during the lunch hour while the girls were taking a short ride. Miss Bell was driving west on Dwight way. A house is said to have obstructed her view of the approaching train. Police claim that the fact that the girls were riding in a closed car saved them from instant death.

Their injuries for the most part were due to flying glass. The locomotive reduced the machine to a mass of wreckage.
The injured girls were rushed to the Berkeley emergency hospital in the police ambulance. Miss Callmen, the most seriously hurt, was later removed to the Temple Hospital for X-ray examination. She was unconscious for a time after the accident.

Four Indicted on U. S. Booze Charge

The United States Grand Jury yesterday returned a true bill against Dr. W. Galt, J. Siphon, J. Cottonwood and Walter Somers on a charge of operating a still on the Embarcadero road, three miles from Palo Alto. Six hundred and seventy-five gallons of mash in addition to the still were found on the place by the prohibition agents who conducted the raid.
The defendants will be arraigned in the United States District Court today.

GIRL REVEALS LIFE AS ADDICT

Each time she appears in police court Maggie Jones seems to have lost something additional in the way of the charms she once possessed. She had only a few of them left.

Maggie Jones is not her true name. As she has gone down, she has taken many aliases, starting with fashionable ones, then ordinary ones and now—Maggie Jones.

She is what the police term a "snowbird" or a "sniffer." She uses cocaine. Once or perhaps twice a year she falls into the depths—each time a little deeper. A short period in the county jail redens her for a period. She was sent there the other day.

She bears traces of lost refinement and beauty. She was a stenographer. If she is able to pull her tortured body together long enough to talk she will tell you this: "I wish I had died long ago. How did I start? In England I was just a little girl. We had a Chinese cook. He lived in the garret. I used to slip up sometimes when he was out. I was curious about his opium pipe. It is so easy to start and then before you know it you are gripped up. I'm afraid I have reached the end now. I'm just past 26."

Divorce Complaints Filed.

Victor vs. Dagmar; divorce, settlement, $2000. Elizabeth Harrison, executrix, G. vs. Mary Devoe; custody. Wilhelmina vs. John E. Rucht; custody. Louis vs. Albert Swanson; settlement. Charles E. vs. Myra Cairn; divorce. Madeline vs. Stephen Yvaz; custody. Nadia vs. Ray Munce; custody. Kiffin vs. Alfred Barak; settlement. Gladys vs. Leo Gledits; custody. Ella vs. Alexander J. Taylor; custody. William vs. Lillian May; custody. Peter vs. Emma Schenker; custody.

DEATH CAR'S OWNER JAILED

Charles D. Brucker, whom the police say owned the machine which ran down and killed Mrs. Emma Collier, 714 Turk street, at Market and Eighth streets, Tuesday night, was arrested yesterday on a charge of failing to give assistance.

Prosper E. Rufer, Grand Central Hotel, who drove the machine, surrendered to the police a few hours after the accident. He was charged with manslaughter. He said he did not know at the time that he struck her.

Field Clerks to Lose Army Jobs

Army orders indicating the imminent dismissal of the last of the 5,000 army field clerks who entered the service in 1916 were received yesterday at Ninth Corps Area headquarters, the Presidio, in the form of instructions to prepare schedules providing for reduction of the field clerk force at San Francisco to twenty or less.

As a result of the orders a check-up of all field clerks at the Presidio will be made today, with the prospect of dismissal within the next few days of all clerks of the class of 1916.

In the entire country there will be left "not less than 250 and not more than 319" of the important corps that in 1917 numbered 5,000. Those who will be left will be the field clerks, individually appointed by act of Congress, or holding army jobs by the instructions from the War Department.

The Moon Shone! Then It Set! It Was Near Rutter

When G. Del Carlo opened his new restaurant for the first time yesterday morning at 321 Washington street—diagonally across Battery and Washington streets from the offices of S. F. Rutter, Federal prohibition director, in the Customs House—he had a smile on his face that meant, "I hope business will be good."

In addition to tempting "eats" in the windows, a brand new big sign heralding in bright letters, "Moon Restaurant—Now Open," there was something "on ice."

Rutter saw the sign, as did also "Charlie" Wheeler, chief enforcement prohibition officer, and almost a score of his agents. They agreed that it would be a fine place to eat lunch and made dates to assemble there.

Five minutes after the noon whistles blew, Del Carlo, wearing his smile, was unknowingly entertaining sixteen prohibition officials at lunch.

To celebrate the occasion, after a whisper in Wheeler's ear and a twinkling wink of an eye, Del Carlo produced a wine bottle—

Then the Moon set, and a raid on the ice box from which the bottle came, Del Carlo, minus the smile, was explaining why he didn't wait until somebody "ordered."

"I wanted it to be my coming-out party," he said.

DRIVER DIES AT WHEEL OF AUTO

Stricken with heart failure while at the wheel of his moving automobile at his home, Charles Hironymous, 50, realty dealer, 849 Eighteenth st., Oakland, died instantly yesterday. The car continued on its way across the street and crashed into a telegraph pole.

The police were notified and upon their arrival found Hironymous dead.

The family were moving to the El Vernon Apartments, Twenty-first and Harrison streets, Oakland, and Hironymous had just laden the car with small articles of furniture.

Hironymous was connected with the real estate firm of W. J. White & Co. and had been a resident of Oakland for twenty years. Recently he was examined by a physician, complaining of pains in his heart, but was advised he did not have heart trouble.

Hironymous leaves a widow.
