

POLICE ARREST HOUSEBREAKERS

Gang of Four Burglars Placed Behind the Prison Bars.

One of the Men Makes Confession of Crimes Committed.

A quartet of crooks, who, the police think, are responsible for a number of burglaries committed in the Western Addition, were arrested yesterday morning by Detectives Ryan and O'Dea and Police Officer Lloyd and locked up in the City Prison. They gave their names as Harry Smith, Thomas Kelleher, Thomas Schinkie and John Brown. Both Kelleher and Smith are well known to Captain Seymour's men.

Late Saturday night Smith and Kelleher broke into the Del Monte dairy at 2145 Pine street and stole two bottles of cream and a cash register. Officer Lloyd was apprised of the crime and he started after them. After searching for them for more than an hour he ran across the desperate pair on Pierce street. They showed fight, but fearing the policeman's revolver surrendered. A "Jimmy" was found in the possession of Kelleher.

Shortly afterward Detectives Ryan and O'Dea found Brown and Schinkie in a lodging-house south of Market street. After being taken to the City Prison Schinkie broke down and confessed to several burglaries committed by the quartet. Some time before an entrance was effected to the dairy the desperate fellows broke into the residence of F. Friedman at 1114 Franklin street and stole a revolver and a lady's black silk skirt. From the house of Mr. Friedman the four went to the residence of John Peabody at 1596 Larkin street and "cracked" for a cash register and a watch. Becoming thirsty they broke into the dairy and stole the cream, for which crime they were arrested.

The cash register, jewelry and silk skirt which were taken by the housebreakers have been recovered by the detectives.

Some time ago Kelleher and another crook were arrested for burglary. Kelleher pleaded guilty to petty larceny and was sent to the County Jail for six months. His partner in crime stood trial for burglary and was given ten years in San Quentin. The four men will be formally booked on several charges of burglary to-day.

HELPERS OF ZION HOLD ENTERTAINMENT AND BALL

Hebrews and Friends Turn Out to Their First Party at Odd Fellows' Hall.

A good time was enjoyed last night by the members of the "Helpers of Zion" at their first grand entertainment and ball at Odd Fellows' Hall. Following is the programme:

Overture, orchestra; opening address, Rev. Dr. M. E. Levy; song, Miss Eva Stern; violin solo, Master S. Augenblick; recitation, Miss Carolina Abrams; solo, Cantor Solomon; closing remarks, Rev. Dr. I. Myers.

A. M. Sommer was master of ceremonies and the committees were: Arrangements—S. Lichtenstein, Charles Back, E. Schmulian, I. Widrin. Reception—T. W. Mills, A. Feldman, G. Goldstein, M. Herzfeld, Charles Stern, E. Kahn, Floor—L. Widrin Jr., W. Schmulian, C. M. Mooslin, A. Stransky.

Lecture on Vibration.

Thaddeus S. Fritz lectured at Fyhlman Castle last night on the subject "The Law of Vibration." He held that the human body was a mere machine, capable of receiving and expressing impressions on the same theory that Marconi's wireless telegraphy is a fact. It is only a question of attuning the human instrument to the highest form of civilization and thought is reached. The modern industrial troubles, which the speaker held would ultimately wreck our civilization, were an independent consequence of the failure to ascend to the highest forms of thought and endeavor which a thorough knowledge of thought-vibration necessarily assures.

If a Substitute for S. H. & M.

Is offered you it is because the substitute pays more profit though it costs you the same. See that every skirt binding you buy has S. H. & M. on the back.

Stole Several Hides.

S. Samuels, a teamster, was arrested yesterday by Police Officer Tom Hanley and charged with stealing several hides from the Oregon dock. Samuels will be accompanied by another man, who will be arrested to-day. The stolen hides have been recovered by the officers.

HEAVY WIND AND ANGRY BREAKERS CAUSE DAMAGE ON OCEAN BEACH

Former Wrecks Dozens of Umbrellas of Sunday Sightseers, While Waters Encroach on Drive Leading to Cliff House.

BROKEN RUNWAY OF LIFE SAVING STATION.

FENCE BUILT BELOW CLIFF HOUSE TO PREVENT WASHOUTS.

VIEWS OF THE HIGH TIDE THAT PREVAILED AT THE OCEAN BEACH YESTERDAY AFTERNOON DURING THE HEAVY SOUTHEAST STORM THAT PASSED OVER THE CITY.

Wrecks in the vicinity of the Cliff House yesterday, caused by the high southeast wind that blew with a velocity of twenty to thirty-five miles an hour.

The wrecks were a source of amusement to a few dozen people who gathered on the porches of the Cliff House, and each disaster was met with peals of hearty laughter.

There was no loss of life, however, for the wrecks consisted of umbrellas owned by members of the fair sex and their escorts. The few people who ventured out to the ocean beach were rewarded with a sight of tumbling, boiling waters that dashed over the roadway leading to the Cliff House.

Pedestrians who walked up the road to the Sutro Heights ran the gauntlet of a jolly crowd. The wind blew in fitful gusts and at the corner of the Cliff House seemed to concentrate all its energy.

Hats and caps were sent flying before the wind and umbrellas were turned inside out to the amusement of those enconced on the porches of Host Wilkin's resort.

In the morning the heavy breakers piled up in white masses over the seal rocks and spray flew over the balconies of the cliff resort. The broken runway of the life-saving station on the beach was surrounded by angry waves, and considerable of the sand of the beach road was washed away. Between the pier of the Olympic craft along the water front yesterday, drove vessels of small tonnage to shelter and compelled big ships to reinforce their anchorage. The storm was expected and due precautions were taken to make everything snugly fast. The result was that, beyond getting chafed a little, the shipping generally escaped without injury. The wind outside blew with terrific force, although the bar broke in but few places. The wind at Point Reyes at 9 a. m. was rushing to the northwest at the rate of sixty miles an hour. At Point Lobos the velocity of the wind at noon was only twenty-eight miles, but by 3 o'clock it had increased to fifty miles an hour. It was blowing at the rate of forty-four miles an hour at 5 o'clock.

Boatman Harry Johnson yesterday afternoon picked up a flat-bottomed hunting skiff off the ferry dock. There was nobody in the boat, which was nearly filled with water and was being driven seaward by tide and wind. In the bottom of the skiff were about thirty decoy ducks. The boat was painted blue.

The lifeboat belonging to the wrecking barge anchored over the sunken hull of the May Flint went adrift yesterday afternoon with three men aboard. The men

Strenuous Treatment for Humorist. Dr. M. J. Rowe, a wandering dispenser of drugs, was brought to the Receiving Hospital yesterday afternoon, supposed to be suffering from mercury poisoning. He had entered a drugstore at Clay and Kearny streets and told the clerk he had taken a dose of bichloride of mercury. At the hospital a stomach pump was applied and then the patient was taken to the ward. He had not poisoned himself, but was merely endeavoring to perpetrate a joke on the physicians. He was put to bed to recover from the treatment.

Market-Street Lines Blocked. Shortly before midnight last night car 254 of the McAllister-street line, in rounding the curve at Jones street, jumped the track and on a gust of wind was caught in such a position that it took a considerable length of time to replace the car on the track. The car was stuck in such a position that traffic from both outward and inward was blocked. The car that jumped the track was crowded with passengers, who were considerably shaken up. One who was injured. Traffic was resumed at an early hour this morning.

Archbishop Corrigan IS SERIOUSLY INJURED. Falls Into a Hole Left Unguarded by Workmen Employed in Making Some Repairs.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—It has been made public that Archbishop Corrigan is confined to his room with painful injuries which he received Thursday evening last at St. Patrick's Cathedral. Workmen have been erecting a wooden partition in the rear of the building prior to tearing out the permanent wall and to joining the cathedral with the Kelly Memorial which is being erected.

It is the Archbishop's custom to enter the cathedral for private devotion about 8 o'clock in the evening. On the day when he received his injuries workmen had left unguarded a big hole in the floor. The Archbishop stumbled into this hole. He caught himself when he had slipped through the floor up to his arms. Very few persons were in the cathedral at the time. The Archbishop managed to get back to his residence. He was seriously bruised and shaken up and his physician was called in. He discovered that the Archbishop's right ankle had been badly wrenched. There were also some ugly scratches on his face.

The Archbishop could not officiate at any of the services at the cathedral to-day. He has been forbidden to leave the house until Tuesday next.

KOREA WILL RETAIN THE ISLAND OF KO JE. Reports From Seoul Announce the Conclusion of the Convention With Russia.

YOKOHAMA, Feb. 23.—It is reported here from Seoul that a convention has been concluded between Russia and Korea under the terms of which Korea agrees not to grant to any state or individual the island of Ko Je, the shore opposite or any part of the coast from that point to Chemulpo. Ko Je island is about thirty miles southwest of Yon, Korea.

Political Demonstration at Funeral. COPENHAGEN, Feb. 23.—The funeral this afternoon of V. B. Hoerup, former Danish Minister of Public Works, was converted into an important political demonstration. Speeches were delivered by Dr. Duntzeur, the Premier; M. Trier, President of the Folketing; and other political friends of the deceased. At the conclusion of the ceremonies a procession of 20,000 people followed the body to the crematory.

Found Dying in Poverty. An old woman named Wheststone, who was found in an unconscious condition on February 20 in a shanty at 611 Ivy avenue, died yesterday morning at the City and County Hospital and her body was removed to the Morgue in order that an autopsy might determine the cause of death. She was found by a milkman who delivered supplies to the house and he notified the police authorities. The woman was removed to the Emergency Hospital for treatment and then sent to the institution where she died. It is thought that the woman died from pneumonia, following lack of proper nourishment.

ITALIAN SHOEMAKER BEATS TWO MEN WHO ATTACK HIM. Richard Fer Booked at Southern Station on Charges of Assault to Murder.

Richard Fer, an Italian shoemaker, was arrested last night by Policemen J. O'Neill and booked at the southern police station on two charges of assault to murder.

Fer has a cobbler shop at 430 Sixth street. He claims that some time ago a gang of young boys of the neighborhood have annoyed him by breaking his windows and other ways. Last night he caught a boy who, he says, was one of his tormentors, and locking him in the shop, went in search of a policeman.

John Hynes, a teamster living at 553 Perry street, learned of the trouble and asked Fer to release the boy.

Fer refused and started to blow a police whistle. Hynes attempted to take the whistle away when Fer drew a heavy club, in the handle of which was a long knife blade. Hynes attempted to take the head, John O'Connor, a bystander, went to Hynes' rescue and received similar treatment. During the scuffle Fer released the knife blade and jabbed Hynes several times in the back with it. Hynes and O'Connor were treated at the Central Emergency Hospital. Neither man is seriously injured.

To reach the mining fields of the Southwest advertise in the Los Angeles Mining Review.

Trapper's Oil cures rheumatism and neuralgia. Druggists, 50c flask. Richard & Co., 406 Clay.

HARRING ROBBERS ASSAULT BARBER

Footpads Club Harry L. Holdsworth Into Insensibility.

Timely Arrival of Citizens Frightens Thugs Before They Rob Victim.

Harry L. Holdsworth, proprietor of a barber shop at 3083 Twenty-fourth street, was severely beaten Saturday night by two desperate footpads who were frightened off before they secured any booty. Holdsworth was walking along Fourth street, near Folsom, about 11:30 o'clock, when the robbers sprang on him from a doorway and one of them struck him from behind with a club or "billy." The blow landed on Holdsworth's neck with sufficient force to fell him to the sidewalk in a half-dazed condition. When Holdsworth was falling he intuitively put his hand to his watch pocket. He struck face downward on the sidewalk, and one of the thugs quickly rolled him over on his back to get at his pockets. Holdsworth, although half-dazed, tried to get up, when he was struck another blow, this time above the right eye. Holdsworth managed to give one yell for help before the second blow landed, and then sank back unconscious.

The two blows dealt Holdsworth by the thugs greatly shocked his nervous system and he was unable to get up to his feet yesterday. The side of his face is also abraded, and it is not probable that one of his assistants gave him a parting kick before running off when he heard assistance coming. Holdsworth was intending to go to Folsom street to take car to his home on Folsom street, between Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth, when the assault took place.

Several daring robberies have been committed in that section of the city recently and the efforts of the police to catch the thugs have been futile. It is believed that the robbers are strangers here, and that they came in from the country to spend the winter. Holdsworth is unable to give any description of his assailants, as he was taken unawares and did not get a view of them, as they came at him from behind. The first blow so dazed him that everything was swimming before his eyes when he was rolled over on his back.

Several citizens who were in the neighborhood at the time, and as they ran to his assistance the baffled footpads took to their heels and quickly disappeared into the darkness. Holdsworth had but a small sum of money and a watch on him, but the robbers failed to get either the money or timepiece.

The two blows dealt Holdsworth by the thugs greatly shocked his nervous system and he was unable to get up to his feet yesterday. The side of his face is also abraded, and it is not probable that one of his assistants gave him a parting kick before running off when he heard assistance coming. Holdsworth was intending to go to Folsom street to take car to his home on Folsom street, between Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth, when the assault took place.

Several daring robberies have been committed in that section of the city recently and the efforts of the police to catch the thugs have been futile. It is believed that the robbers are strangers here, and that they came in from the country to spend the winter. Holdsworth is unable to give any description of his assailants, as he was taken unawares and did not get a view of them, as they came at him from behind. The first blow so dazed him that everything was swimming before his eyes when he was rolled over on his back.

Several citizens who were in the neighborhood at the time, and as they ran to his assistance the baffled footpads took to their heels and quickly disappeared into the darkness. Holdsworth had but a small sum of money and a watch on him, but the robbers failed to get either the money or timepiece.

The two blows dealt Holdsworth by the thugs greatly shocked his nervous system and he was unable to get up to his feet yesterday. The side of his face is also abraded, and it is not probable that one of his assistants gave him a parting kick before running off when he heard assistance coming. Holdsworth was intending to go to Folsom street to take car to his home on Folsom street, between Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth, when the assault took place.

Several daring robberies have been committed in that section of the city recently and the efforts of the police to catch the thugs have been futile. It is believed that the robbers are strangers here, and that they came in from the country to spend the winter. Holdsworth is unable to give any description of his assailants, as he was taken unawares and did not get a view of them, as they came at him from behind. The first blow so dazed him that everything was swimming before his eyes when he was rolled over on his back.

Several citizens who were in the neighborhood at the time, and as they ran to his assistance the baffled footpads took to their heels and quickly disappeared into the darkness. Holdsworth had but a small sum of money and a watch on him, but the robbers failed to get either the money or timepiece.

The two blows dealt Holdsworth by the thugs greatly shocked his nervous system and he was unable to get up to his feet yesterday. The side of his face is also abraded, and it is not probable that one of his assistants gave him a parting kick before running off when he heard assistance coming. Holdsworth was intending to go to Folsom street to take car to his home on Folsom street, between Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth, when the assault took place.

Several daring robberies have been committed in that section of the city recently and the efforts of the police to catch the thugs have been futile. It is believed that the robbers are strangers here, and that they came in from the country to spend the winter. Holdsworth is unable to give any description of his assailants, as he was taken unawares and did not get a view of them, as they came at him from behind. The first blow so dazed him that everything was swimming before his eyes when he was rolled over on his back.

Several citizens who were in the neighborhood at the time, and as they ran to his assistance the baffled footpads took to their heels and quickly disappeared into the darkness. Holdsworth had but a small sum of money and a watch on him, but the robbers failed to get either the money or timepiece.

The two blows dealt Holdsworth by the thugs greatly shocked his nervous system and he was unable to get up to his feet yesterday. The side of his face is also abraded, and it is not probable that one of his assistants gave him a parting kick before running off when he heard assistance coming. Holdsworth was intending to go to Folsom street to take car to his home on Folsom street, between Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth, when the assault took place.

Several daring robberies have been committed in that section of the city recently and the efforts of the police to catch the thugs have been futile. It is believed that the robbers are strangers here, and that they came in from the country to spend the winter. Holdsworth is unable to give any description of his assailants, as he was taken unawares and did not get a view of them, as they came at him from behind. The first blow so dazed him that everything was swimming before his eyes when he was rolled over on his back.

Several citizens who were in the neighborhood at the time, and as they ran to his assistance the baffled footpads took to their heels and quickly disappeared into the darkness. Holdsworth had but a small sum of money and a watch on him, but the robbers failed to get either the money or timepiece.

The two blows dealt Holdsworth by the thugs greatly shocked his nervous system and he was unable to get up to his feet yesterday. The side of his face is also abraded, and it is not probable that one of his assistants gave him a parting kick before running off when he heard assistance coming. Holdsworth was intending to go to Folsom street to take car to his home on Folsom street, between Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth, when the assault took place.

Several daring robberies have been committed in that section of the city recently and the efforts of the police to catch the thugs have been futile. It is believed that the robbers are strangers here, and that they came in from the country to spend the winter. Holdsworth is unable to give any description of his assailants, as he was taken unawares and did not get a view of them, as they came at him from behind. The first blow so dazed him that everything was swimming before his eyes when he was rolled over on his back.

Several citizens who were in the neighborhood at the time, and as they ran to his assistance the baffled footpads took to their heels and quickly disappeared into the darkness. Holdsworth had but a small sum of money and a watch on him, but the robbers failed to get either the money or timepiece.

The two blows dealt Holdsworth by the thugs greatly shocked his nervous system and he was unable to get up to his feet yesterday. The side of his face is also abraded, and it is not probable that one of his assistants gave him a parting kick before running off when he heard assistance coming. Holdsworth was intending to go to Folsom street to take car to his home on Folsom street, between Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth, when the assault took place.

Several daring robberies have been committed in that section of the city recently and the efforts of the police to catch the thugs have been futile. It is believed that the robbers are strangers here, and that they came in from the country to spend the winter. Holdsworth is unable to give any description of his assailants, as he was taken unawares and did not get a view of them, as they came at him from behind. The first blow so dazed him that everything was swimming before his eyes when he was rolled over on his back.

Several citizens who were in the neighborhood at the time, and as they ran to his assistance the baffled footpads took to their heels and quickly disappeared into the darkness. Holdsworth had but a small sum of money and a watch on him, but the robbers failed to get either the money or timepiece.

The two blows dealt Holdsworth by the thugs greatly shocked his nervous system and he was unable to get up to his feet yesterday. The side of his face is also abraded, and it is not probable that one of his assistants gave him a parting kick before running off when he heard assistance coming. Holdsworth was intending to go to Folsom street to take car to his home on Folsom street, between Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth, when the assault took place.

Several daring robberies have been committed in that section of the city recently and the efforts of the police to catch the thugs have been futile. It is believed that the robbers are strangers here, and that they came in from the country to spend the winter. Holdsworth is unable to give any description of his assailants, as he was taken unawares and did not get a view of them, as they came at him from behind. The first blow so dazed him that everything was swimming before his eyes when he was rolled over on his back.

Several citizens who were in the neighborhood at the time, and as they ran to his assistance the baffled footpads took to their heels and quickly disappeared into the darkness. Holdsworth had but a small sum of money and a watch on him, but the robbers failed to get either the money or timepiece.

The two blows dealt Holdsworth by the thugs greatly shocked his nervous system and he was unable to get up to his feet yesterday. The side of his face is also abraded, and it is not probable that one of his assistants gave him a parting kick before running off when he heard assistance coming. Holdsworth was intending to go to Folsom street to take car to his home on Folsom street, between Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth, when the assault took place.

Several daring robberies have been committed in that section of the city recently and the efforts of the police to catch the thugs have been futile. It is believed that the robbers are strangers here, and that they came in from the country to spend the winter. Holdsworth is unable to give any description of his assailants, as he was taken unawares and did not get a view of them, as they came at him from behind. The first blow so dazed him that everything was swimming before his eyes when he was rolled over on his back.

Several citizens who were in the neighborhood at the time, and as they ran to his assistance the baffled footpads took to their heels and quickly disappeared into the darkness. Holdsworth had but a small sum of money and a watch on him, but the robbers failed to get either the money or timepiece.

The two blows dealt Holdsworth by the thugs greatly shocked his nervous system and he was unable to get up to his feet yesterday. The side of his face is also abraded, and it is not probable that one of his assistants gave him a parting kick before running off when he heard assistance coming. Holdsworth was intending to go to Folsom street to take car to his home on Folsom street, between Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth, when the assault took place.

Several daring robberies have been committed in that section of the city recently and the efforts of the police to catch the thugs have been futile. It is believed that the robbers are strangers here, and that they came in from the country to spend the winter. Holdsworth is unable to give any description of his assailants, as he was taken unawares and did not get a view of them, as they came at him from behind. The first blow so dazed him that everything was swimming before his eyes when he was rolled over on his back.

Several citizens who were in the neighborhood at the time, and as they ran to his assistance the baffled footpads took to their heels and quickly disappeared into the darkness. Holdsworth had but a small sum of money and a watch on him, but the robbers failed to get either the money or timepiece.

The two blows dealt Holdsworth by the thugs greatly shocked his nervous system and he was unable to get up to his feet yesterday. The side of his face is also abraded, and it is not probable that one of his assistants gave him a parting kick before running off when he heard assistance coming. Holdsworth was intending to go to Folsom street to take car to his home on Folsom street, between Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth, when the assault took place.

Several daring robberies have been committed in that section of the city recently and the efforts of the police to catch the thugs have been futile. It is believed that the robbers are strangers here, and that they came in from the country to spend the winter. Holdsworth is unable to give any description of his assailants, as he was taken unawares and did not get a view of them, as they came at him from behind. The first blow so dazed him that everything was swimming before his eyes when he was rolled over on his back.

Several citizens who were in the neighborhood at the time, and as they ran to his assistance the baffled footpads took to their heels and quickly disappeared into the darkness. Holdsworth had but a small sum of money and a watch on him, but the robbers failed to get either the money or timepiece.

The two blows dealt Holdsworth by the thugs greatly shocked his nervous system and he was unable to get up to his feet yesterday. The side of his face is also abraded, and it is not probable that one of his assistants gave him a parting kick before running off when he heard assistance coming. Holdsworth was intending to go to Folsom street to take car to his home on Folsom street, between Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth, when the assault took place.

Several daring robberies have been committed in that section of the city recently and the efforts of the police to catch the thugs have been futile. It is believed that the robbers are strangers here, and that they came in from the country to spend the winter. Holdsworth is unable to give any description of his assailants, as he was taken unawares and did not get a view of them, as they came at him from behind. The first blow so dazed him that everything was swimming before his eyes when he was rolled over on his back.

Several citizens who were in the neighborhood at the time, and as they ran to his assistance the baffled footpads took to their heels and quickly disappeared into the darkness. Holdsworth had but a small sum of money and a watch on him, but the robbers failed to get either the money or timepiece.

The two blows dealt Holdsworth by the thugs greatly shocked his nervous system and he was unable to get up to his feet yesterday. The side of his face is also abraded, and it is not probable that one of his assistants gave him a parting kick before running off when he heard assistance coming. Holdsworth was intending to go to Folsom street to take car to his home on Folsom street, between Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth, when the assault took place.

Several daring robberies have been committed in that section of the city recently and the efforts of the police to catch the thugs have been futile. It is believed that the robbers are strangers here, and that they came in from the country to spend the winter. Holdsworth is unable to give any description of his assailants, as he was taken unawares and did not get a view of them, as they came at him from behind. The first blow so dazed him that everything was swimming before his eyes when he was rolled over on his back.

Several citizens who were in the neighborhood at the time, and as they ran to his assistance the baffled footpads took to their heels and quickly disappeared into the darkness. Holdsworth had but a small sum of money and a watch on him, but the robbers failed to get either the money or timepiece.

We announce the arrival of 150 Cases NEW GOODS, the latest styles and fabrics for Spring, 1902. In the collection are the following:

Colored Dress Fabrics.

Silk and Wool Eolienne, Toile de Soie and Fleur de Velour, Wool Poplins, Etamine Voile, Etamine Canvas, Batiste and Tamise. The above we have in all the newest shades.

Black Dress Fabrics.

Black Silk Grenadines, Wool Etamines, plain and figured; Canvas Cloths, Wool Taffetas, Silk and Wool Eolienne, Wool Crepes, Samite Cloth, and Silk and Wool Crepe de Paris.

Laces and Embroideries.

New Lace Galoons, All-over Nets, Mouseline de Soie, Silk and Applique Vestings, Chiffon and Net Ruffings, Valenciennes Lace Sets and Cambric Swiss, Nainsook and Irish Point Embroideries in Sets.

SPECIAL.

New importation LADIES' 2-CLASP KID GLOVES, embroidered backs (extra quality), fitted and guaranteed.

Price $1.00 Pair.

Mail orders promptly and carefully executed and samples forwarded free to any address.

McDonnors & Moffatts, INCORPORATED 1892. 111, 113, 115, 117, 119, 121 POST STREET.

GOLDBERG BOWEN & CO. Monday Tuesday Wednesday. Lenten luncheon. Sardines in butter sauce. Bird pate. Dog biscuit. Crystola. Match holder. Tea. Tomato catsup. Sweet pickles. Molasses. Holland cocoa. Artichokes. Canned peas. Raisins. Smyrna figs. Italian prunes. Pine apple. Clam bouillon. Glacé fruits. Preserved ginger. China dry ginger.

CHOICE SHOES Saved here. A lady said yesterday: "I have worn nothing but SOROSIS Shoes for two years and I find that I have spent just about half the money for shoes that I formerly did in the same length of time. They are comfortable from the start and look well to the finish." ONLY TO BE HAD AT $3.50 per pair always. The Royal 50 THIRD STREET, SAN FRANCISCO. Second Shoe Store from Market St. MAIL ORDERS ESPECIALLY SOLICITED AND PROMPTLY FILLED.

BARGAINS IN FURNITURE. On account of extensive improvements we are forced to reduce our stock at once. Will sell half of our $40,000 stock at a great sacrifice. SALE DAYS Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Come and see for yourselves. KRAGEN FURNITURE CO., 1015-1017 Market St., Opp. Taylor St.

The Ocularium. Has a professional frame fitter for those exact services in adjusting or fitting eye-glasses and spectacles there is absolutely no charge. 642 MARKET ST. W. T. HESS, NOTARY PUBLIC AND ATTORNEY-AT-LAW.